Over Six Million Acres Of National Forests Closed

HUNDREDS OF CREWS FIGHT MANY FIRES

Situation Almost as Alarming as Extreme Season of 1929, Reports State
WIND IS STRONGER

J. Pierpont Morgan and Nephew of Gov. Roosevelt Volunteer Fighters

MISSOULA, Mont., July 24.—(UP)—Tension reigned along the forest fronts of four western states today where hundreds of crews battled serious conflagrations. Fires were reported in South Dakota, Wyoming, Montana and Idaho.

More than six million acres of national forests in Montana and Idaho have been closed to entrance and travel except under written permit.

Warning signs have been posted and special officers have been stationed at entrance points to see that all campers and fishermen are properly accredited.

Regional Forester Evan W. Kelley at Missoula said that "current temperatures are higher, humidity lower, wind stronger, precipitation less and the forest floor dryer than was the case last year at this time."

"It follows that a far more serious fire situation exists; in fact, we are rapidly approaching the peak of danger reached in the extreme season of 1929."

New Fires Reported

Reports from numerous small fires started by last night's lightning storm were slowly filtering in today, but indications were that they had been checked.

Wyoming forest fires today appeared to be the most serious in the four states. Considerable property damage has been reported from the Teton forest area and from the DuBois Dude ranch country.

Dude ranchers, among them J. Pierpont Morgan, Jr., New York capitalist, and Daniel Roosevelt, a nephew of the New York governor, were reported to be volunteer fire fighters on the fire front.

"WHAT-A-MAN" HUDSON GIVES HIMSELF UP TO L. A. SHERIFF

EDISON QUILTS ACTIVE LABOR IN LABORATORY

Famous Inventor Forced to Take Vacation From His Test Tubes

WEST ORANGE, N. J., July 24.—(UP)—Thomas A. Edison inventor—hero of one of America's favorite success stories, has been forced to cease active work at the age of 84.

Overwork during experiments in producing rubber from the golden rod plant, on which the aged inventor worked steadily all last winter at Fort Myers, Fla., have made it necessary for Edison to take a vacation from the laboratory, according to his brother-in-law, John V. Miller—a vacation that may passage retirement, in view of his advanced age.

"Since his return from the south on June 16," Miller said, "Edison has visited his laboratory only once, and does not plan to visit it again, for some time." He remains at his estate, Glenmont, in Llewellyn park, and takes automobile rides in the vicinity.

The figure of the white haired, deaf inventor is as familiar to millions of Americans as his record of achievement in science, a record built up through more than an average lifetime of work with test tube and chemicals, filaments and carbons. His custom of working 18 and 20 hours a day on inventions, neglecting to stop for food or sleep, is prominently recorded on the pages of American biography.

Edison's inventions include some of the most spectacular in science—several of which have revolutionized industry and the results of which touch contemporary life from many angles.

Starting with telegraph appliances, the young man from Milan, O., who began by selling newspapers on a Detroit-Port Huron train, passed discoveries in carbon telephone transmission, then produced such "miracles" as the incandescent light, the phonograph, the motion picture camera and projector, and then, after it appeared he had no more worlds to conquer, devoted himself to synthetic rubber.

BURBANK, July 24.—(UP)—Governor James Rolph, Jr., left United airport here by airplane at 10:07 a. m. today for San Luis Obispo to review units of the Southern California National guard.

The governor came south last night by plane to attend the banquet of Southern California postmasters, in convention in Los Angeles. Shortly before he departed Governor Rolph announced he would return to Los Angeles next Monday and announce his selections to fill 12 superior and four municipal judgeships. The names of 1760 candidates have been submitted to him, the governor said.

GRAF ZEPPELIN STARTS VOYAGE TO NORTH POLE

Leviathan of Air Expected to Arrive Tonight at Berlin for Stop

FRIEDRICHSHAFEN, July 24.—(INS)—The Graf Zeppelin started on the first lap of her voyage to the Arctic at 9:30 a. m. today. Her first stop will be Berlin and her second Leningrad.

Converted into a "flying laboratory" and with 16 passengers and a crew of 20, the Graf will make a cruise of great importance to science. It has been undertaken under the auspices of the International Aero-Arctic society.

Among those on board were Lincoln Ellsworth, American explorer, who accompanied Amundsen and Nobile on their flight across the North Pole to Alaska in the dirigible Norge, and Lieut. Commander Edward H. Smith of the American ice patrol.

In charge of the scientific aspects of the flight is Professor Samoilovich of Petrograd, assisted by Captain Bruns of Berlin. If the weather continues favorable on the first two laps of the flight, the Graf will continue toward the Arctic via Archangel and Novaya Zembla.

Many geographers of world-wide reputation have collaborated in drawing up a program of geographical research for the expedition. By means of the Graf's radio equipment, Commander Eckener will endeavor to keep in constant touch with the German Marine conservatory at Hamburg.

Comes Out Of Hiding Late Today

Surrenders on Warrant in Which He Is Charged with Bigamy

LOS ANGELES, July 24.—(UP)—G. Edward "What-a-Man" Hudson, former husband of Mrs. Minnie "Ma" Kennedy, surrendered to Undersheriff Eugene Biscailuz late today on a Cowlitz county, Washington, warrant which charged him with bigamy.

Hudson had been in seclusion for more than a week, ever since it was discovered that he had married Mrs. Kennedy at Longview, Wash., while Mrs. Margaret Newton-Hudson of Los Angeles still was his lawful wife by virtue of a ceremony at Las Vegas, Nev.

"What-a-Man" came to the sheriff's police with Richard Cantillon, his attorney, and a bail broker who waved a $1500 as a signal that Hudson probably will escape a jail incarceration pending his removal to Washington.

One of the legal difficulties of "What-a-Man" was taken care of yesterday when "Ma" Kennedy secured an annulment of their month-old marriage.

However, he still faces other court actions, in addition to the bigamy charge.

Mrs. Newton-Hudson has filed suit for divorce and asks $5000 alimony.

Mrs. Ethel Leel Parker Harbert, another Los Angeles woman, has sued for $250,000, alleging breach of promise on the part of Hudson. Her suit declared that Hudson took her on a pre-marriage honeymoon trip on which she sur-

JAS. ALEXANDER RETIRES FROM P. O. POSITION

Flake Smith Appointed as Assistant Postmaster Effective Aug. 1

RETIREMENT on pension of James E. Alexander as assistant postmaster of the Santa Ana post office and appointment of Flake L. Smith to that post was announced today by Postmaster T. E. Stephenson.

Alexander voluntarily submitted his resignation because of ill health. It will become effective July 31. Alexander will retire at the retirement age of 63 and will receive a pension from the government for the remainder of his life.

Appointed a clerk in 1899, when his father was postmaster, Alexander later served as assistant postmaster under Postmasters L. L. Shaw and C. D. Overhiser, and continued at that post when the present postmaster took office. Until he was stricken ill last December, Alexander had held the post of assistant postmaster continuously since 1912.

Alexander is famous over the nation as a stamp collector and is reputed to possess the finest collection of American stamps on the Pacific coast. He will retire to his

Orders Use of Force in Order to Prevent Persons Crossing Toll Span

CONTROVERSY RAGES

Chief Executive of State Would Defy Injunction of U. S. Government

BULLETIN

DENISON, Tex., July 24.—(UP)—Repeated rumors of threats to end the Texas-Oklahoma bridge controversy by blowing up the toll bridge today caused the Red River Bridge company to place additional guards and floodlights in its structure.

Precautions will be taken to see that no one approaches the bridge except on business, company employees said.

DURANT, Okla., July 24.—(UP)—A detachment of 30 Oklahoma National guardsmen today marched to the north bank of the Red River and put into effect a proclamation of martial law by Gov. W. H. (Alfalfa Bill) Murray.

They bore orders to use force if necessary to prevent any persons from crossing a toll bridge across the stream between Durant and Denison, Tex.

Invocation of martial law for the first time in eight years in this state was resorted to by Governor Murray as a dramatic climax to a controversy that has raged for a week around use of toll bridges and free spans linking Oklahoma and Texas.

Governor Murray, whose administration of six months has been marked by many spectacular moves "in the interest of the common people," insisted that the two states, joint owners of the free

PROPOSED HOP OVER ATLANTIC IS POSTPONED

Huge Plane Starts Trip to Turkey But Fails to Gain Altitude

NEW YORK, July 24.—(INS)—Russell, Boardman, and John Polando, Boston flyers, made an unsuccessful attempt today to start their long-distance flight to Istanbul, Turkey. With Boardman at the controls, their huge monoplane sailed away from Floyd Bennett field at 5:40 o'clock this morning, but landed almost immediately when Boardman failed to gain altitude.

The ship was only 20 feet off the water when it whirled over Jamaica Bay and Boardman guided it back to the field, where he made a safe landing. The tail struck sparks on the concrete runway and some gasoline, which had been spilled, was ignited, but the ship was not damaged.

The flyers did not announce whether they would make another attempt to hop today.

Boardman disclosed on landing that when he saw he could not gain altitude with the 728 gallons of gas in the plane and fearing a crash, he dumped more than 400 gallons.

"It was a matter of life or death with us, I figured, so I dumped the gas," said Boardman. "It fell over several houses, but did no damage. I am sure."

Boardman and Polando have been planning their flight to capture the long-distance record for more than a year.

HOOPER UNABLE TO PLACE OIL EMBARGO

WASHINGTON, July 24.—(UP)—Attorney General Mitchell has informed President Hoover that the executive has no power to declare an embargo against importation of oil.

Midwestern leaders of the demoralized oil industry have repeatedly urged the president to invoke an embargo. They suggested he act under the provision of the tariff act which provides the president may exclude from the country products that are marked by unfair methods of competition.

Oil imports do not constitute unfair competition, although they may aggravate the condition of the domestic industry, Mitchell informed the president.

BERNARD SHAW AND LADY ASTOR PUZZLE

MOSCOW, July 24.—(UP)—Serious workers among Soviet leaders were bewildered by George Bernard Shaw, Irish wit and playwright, here on a holiday tour.

Shaw and Lady Astor, American member of the British parliament, listened to serious speeches by their Russian friends and their counter remarks left the Russians puzzled.

Shaw, his eyes twinkling at a Russian factor, commented: "The more I see of the proletarians, the more I thank God I am not one of them."

WINTER FASHIONS ARE ON DISPLAY

PARIS, July 24.—(UP)—The new winter fashions, on display today—the hottest day of the year—ranged from the "leg o' mutton" velvet coat sleeve of the empire period to street coats with calf-length pyjamas for town wear.

Many novelties were among the new creations which showed a general trend toward the empire and second empire styles of old French costumes.

The leg o' mutton coat sleeve by Yvete was one of the hits.

Skirt lengths were to the lower midcalf, and evening lengths to the instep or to the floor.

Short trains hung from bustle bows at the waistline.

Predominating colors shown included black, white, wine, green and peach.

TROOPS ORDERED TO END POLITICAL FEUD

MAYERSVILLE, Miss., July 24.—(UP)—A detachment of 25 National guardsmen arrived here today to prevent disorders among the 275 voters of Issaquena county who have been going about armed with shotguns and pistols due to a political faction feud.

The army truck which brought the guardsmen here was dispatched from the Alexandria training camp by Governor Theodore Bilbo after a group of Mayersville women asked for assistance in preventing possible bloodshed.

The factional fight centers in a quarrel over the accuracy of the present polling list. Issaquena county, the smallest in the state, has more than 25 candidates for various offices, out of a total of 275 voters. The state primary election takes place August 4.

ROLPH TO REVIEW NATIONAL GUARDS

BURBANK, July 24.—(UP)—Governor James Rolph, Jr., left United airport here by airplane at 10:07 a. m. today for San Luis Obispo to review units of the Southern California National guard.

The governor came south last night by plane to attend the banquet of Southern California postmasters, in convention in Los Angeles. Shortly before he departed Governor Rolph announced he would return to Los Angeles next Monday and announce his selections to fill 12 superior and four municipal judgeships. FLETCHER TO QUIT TARIFF COMMISSION

WASHINGTON, July 24.—(UP)—Henry P. Fletcher told the United Press today that he would resign as chairman of the tariff commission effective September 15.

Fletcher said that when he accepted President Hoover's appointment he did so for a period of one year to organize the work of the commission.

MERCURY BOOSTED TO 90 MARK HERE

OL' Man Sun was on the job again today.

Santa Ana residents realized that without looking at the thermometer, but just in case you want to know, the mercury in the recording instrument at S. Hill and Son's hardware store on East 4th street, hit a high of 90 degrees today.

This mark was recorded twice, first at 10:30 a. m., after which it dropped, then again at 1 p. m. By 1:30 it had dropped to 86.

THE SLOT MACHINE CASE AND ITS MEANING

AN EDITORIAL

As Lincoln said of slavery, we can say of the gambling slot machine traffic in Orange county, "It is at last in the way of ultimate extinction."

As The Register declared in the very beginning of the contest, the slot machines were illegal; they were a violation of the penal code, but that they existed by the grace of the officers of the law.

We had called attention before to the fact that slot machines did not exist where the city attorneys and district attorneys had rendered opinions against their legality. But in Orange county for more than a decade, district attorneys and city attorneys of Santa Ana had rendered opinions that these devices were legal. And so they were running virtually under the protection of the officials.

To make the apparent case stronger on behalf of their legality, ordinances had been passed licensing them. The people by the election of a new city attorney in Santa Ana, who had no obligations to any political group, who believed that the laws against gambling, as other laws, were made to prevent vicious practices, laid the groundwork for getting rid of the gambling devices in Orange county.

We never had any doubt of the illegality of these devices, and neither had the elected city attorney. So that when Mr. Hanson precipitated the action, due to the encroachment of the gambling devices in his own city of San Clemente, he found forces ready and willing to carry on such program.

The Register cannot help emphasizing that while the event itself is of importance, yet it has greater significance in what it portends and in the possibilities that it opens up in regard to good government, than the event standing unattached and alone would suggest.

Politics Run By Few—People Should Only Clap

Orange county has stood out as the one fine spot where politics have been run by a small group, where such things as gambling devices and to a very large degree bootlegging, have been carried on with impunity, and the political organization, of which the officials have been a part, has been an exceedingly close corporation. It was so arranged that practically all the people at election could do was to endorse that which the politicians had agreed upon.

As a minister related to us on one occasion, when he was selected to a state convention of the party with which he was affiliated and listened to the report of the nominating committee select a group of men whom he knew would steal the statehouse if they could, he refused to cheer with the rest. A man sitting next to him said, "clap, you — fool, that's your part of the job."

We early found in Orange county that to touch or to criticize any part of this political group was as though one had touched the Ark of the Covenant. It was sacred in the eyes of the little group and all that it did was all right. When the news was brought to us of the manner in which the Court Interpreter of the county was exploiting the poorest group in our community, we offered objection and asked for an investigation and a correction, and did we get it? And how!

Protect Their Appointees by Sacrificing People's Interest

We found every part of the machinery of the organization wheeled into line, not to protect the Mexicans, but to protect the political appointee. Not only did the Board of Supervisors, pass a resolution that this man should be kept "for the good of the Mexicans," but they "punished" The Register, by taking from it the legal advertising, which service it had enjoyed because of being the paper of the largest circulation, and reaching the largest number of taxpayers in the county.

Since that time, it has been very generally and consistently placed in smaller and in some cases exceedingly obscure papers, so that the taxpayers have not been able, through the publication, to get the facts that the law desires they should have. We are not saying this to complain, but to call attention of the voters to the fact of the political machine, that had so completely dominated the official life of the county, as to be able to do this with hardly a protest from the people. Nevertheless, The Register has continued to emphasize the facts.

Officials Conduct Business Secretly Without Knowledge of People

The affairs of the county have been carried on so long, as though they were the private business of this group, that not only are all the important affairs of the people considered in secret sessions of the group, but they actually believe that is the way to conduct public business.

It is quite significant, in the light of these facts, to note that to the meeting of the Boards of Supervisors of the three counties to consider the question of the allocation of the money for the building of the weirs up in San Bernardino county, after publishers and others were invited to what was to be an open, frank discussion, the open meeting was called off and the gathering closed to the people. In fact, the chairman of the committee that has been back of this visited the publisher of The Register and gave him a personal invitation to be present. This meeting was held today. But over long distance telephone, with apologies, the invitation was withdrawn, because of objection by the Board of Supervisors of Orange County to having the meeting open to the public. Why? It is the public's affairs.

And all of the members of the Board of Supervisors of Orange county stand alike upon these matters. We have not noted a solitary word of protest from any one of them. The voice of one is the voice of all.

People Are Awake and are Correcting the Matter

We congratulate the people of Santa Ana and Orange county over the fact that they have at last obtained a clear view of the evils that come from such practices, and that they are supporting candidates and electing candidates to public office who not only are not the choice of such political groups, but who are opposed to the manner of the operations of such groups applied to the things which are being protected, like the slot machine, and to the handing out of public money as personal favors to various groups.

OIL OPERATORS PLAN SHUT IN OF ALL WELLS

The Oklahoma stripper well relief committee, called the meeting after receiving assurance yesterday that most of the Kansas producers would favor curtailment.

In the meantime Henry said efforts will be continued to give Gov. W. H. Murray time to order a shut-in of all Oklahoma wells until the price gets up to $1.

The fate of the Texas districts, and thus of the entire mid-continent area, was left largely, however, with the Texas legislature, which is working on the problem in special session. Much of the industry's trouble is blamed on the East Texas field, opened last December.

GIRL BURGLAR IN JUVENILE COURT

A girl burglar, caught "red-handed," was the object of juvenile court proceedings being referred today against a 14-year-old Anaheim girl, reported to have been caught with two Anaheim youths in a fruit stand, owned by Jim Takeshita, near Buena Park last night.

The fruit stand had been robbed 12 times recently, it was reported and Takeshita, receiving information that the 13th entry would be made last night, informed officers.

Deputy Sheriff Charles A. Virgoe and Earl Nickles rushed to the place in time to surprise the two in the place, they reported. The boys, one 16 and one 18, were booked at the county jail. The girl was turned over to her parents last night and was to be given a hearing probably this afternoon.

bridges, throw them open to traffic immediately in defiance of a federal court injunction in Texas. Gov. Ross Sterling, multi-millionaire oil man who became chief executive of Texas early this year, expressed the same desire to have the bridges opened but said "It must be done in an orderly manner without violation of terms of the injunction."

When word was carried to Governor Murray that owners of the toll span between Durant and Denison were planning to tie his hands by injunction, he ordered out the guard.

He directed the guardsmen "to maintain military control against all interference whatsoever, except only an order otherwise by the superior executive power of the president of the United States." Lieut. Col. John A. MacDonald, a state senator, was placed in command of the detachment of 20 guardsmen mobilized from Company E of the 180th Infantry, a Howitzer company and the ninth brigade headquarters unit.

The guardsmen assembled in Durant during the night and shortly after dawn marched out to the bridgehead and occupied the narrow area, placed under martial law by Murray's proclamation.

With military precision the guard was posted and reliefs were arranged to keep watch over the bridge 24 hours a day.

The only persons permitted to pass the blockade were those having official business and United States mail carriers.

mental divide continued to harass fire crews from the Beaverhead and Salmon national forests, although the have concentrated and are holding the fire on the south and west sides. It continued to advance, however, northerly toward the Big Hole country.

The aerial forest patrol was called out from Spokane, Wash., this morning to look for lightning fires in the Idaho Panhandle and western Montana forests.

Threaten Homes
Reports from the Silver Lake region in Deer Lodge forest, indicated that the fire which has threatened summer homes along the lake shore would be brought under control some time late today.

United States Indian service crews, augmented by reserves from the forest service, are holding the small but dangerous fires on the Flathead reservation. They hope to have them out of the danger area by nightfall.

A new fire was burning strongly in the Bond Lake region along Bunch creek and the reserves were being recruited to aid in combatting it.

The Doolittle fire in Big Hole valley has been checked and now is being held by a small crew of men. Large forces stationed there are en route to the Nez Perce fire front.

Climatic conditions have improved slightly in Yellowstone National park and while reinforcements were expected today, the fire situation was not interfering with tourist travel and was believed generally to be less severe than at any time in the past four days.

JURY VERDICT SAYS DEATH ACCIDENTAL

Death by accident was the verdict of a coroner's jury in an inquest over the body of Samuel Pearlman, 41, Los Angeles dress merchant, held at the Harrell and Brown funeral parlors shortly before noon today.

Pearlman was killed at 6:30 a. m. yesterday when the car in which he was riding ran off the road near El Toro and collided with a tree.

The jury did not state how the accident occurred, whether the brakes were faulty, as was first reported.

Death was due to a fractured skull, the jury determined. Richard Hoff, 44, Los Angeles, driver of the machine and seriously hurt in the crash, was removed from the Orange county hospital to a Los Angeles hospital today. He suffered possible internal injuries.

The Slot Machine Case And Its Meaning

Take the case of the recent slot machines. Frankly, we were amazed when after the city attorney had rendered his opinion that the slot machines were illegal, an opinion that was endorsed by the District Attorney, and the Chief of Police and the Sheriff had started in to do their duty, that a judge of the superior court enjoined these peace officers from enforcing the law and protecting the people.

This was making law by courts and not by legislatures, with a vengeance. We were amazed, because as a rule, the court accepts the advice of the prosecuting attorney in any preliminary as to the probable guilt of the accused. But here the court went against the opinion of the attorneys who were elected by the people, to protect them; went against the plain statutes of the state, and the decisions of higher courts, and under circumstances where it was left to the discretion of the court.

We desire to be fair. We know the basis in argument for the position which the attorney took in asking for the injunction and which the court assumed in exercising his discretion. Fairness would suggest that in agreeing to the restraining order on the presentation of the verifying complaint and supporting affidavits, the court had in mind the point of the property interests represented by the attorney, and for the moment lost sight of the larger interests, in our mind, involved.

Finally, when confronted with the decisions and the law that in this protection given the slot machines, both law and decisions were being overthrown, the slot machine men were cited to appear. The court really shortened the time to eight days.

A Misuse of the Court

And then the attorney for the slot machines declared that they had got the restraining order to protect the machines—to protect property. The attorney, as an officer of the court had no right to use the court for such a purpose. The fight was a fight upon the enforcement of law and its violation. The court took the opinion of the slot machine attorneys and refused the opinion of the attorneys of the people. For eight days these machines which had been operating for years by the opinions of the attorneys, operated by protection afforded by the injunction from the court.

We believe that the finest way to increase respect for our institutions and for law, is for the officers of the law to show indignation when the will of the people is being insulted, through law violation and to construe doubt for the protection of the people.

A Start Has Been Made to Correct Abuses

Just a start has been made in the correction of abuses in Orange county, but it is a real start. Some of them have been carried on so long and so completely, which even though illegal, some people imagine are legal because they have been protected either by indifference or openly.

At heart, the people of Orange county and Santa Ana are just as fine as any other people—we believe a little finer. They want good government. They want the law enforced, and when informed of the facts, they are willing to do their part on the day of the primary and at election time.

Surely we have gone through enough to manifest some of the facts now. We want to express our appreciation, and even our gratitude to many forces and to many men and women who in our endeavor to print all the facts, and to interpret those facts in harmony with justice and right, have stood by us. We have appreciated this, for while legal advertising taken from our columns did not hurt seriously, other things have been done to make it as difficult as possible to keep the faith and carry on.

But there is an emerging. The people have the power, and we are happy to know they have the disposition to correct these matters and they will completely do it undoubtedly.

GETS JAIL TERM WITH PROBATION

Keith Garten, who had previously pleaded guilty to a charge of driving an automobile while under the influence of intoxicating liquor, must serve 30 days in the county jail, refrain from drinking intoxicating liquor or frequenting places where liquor is served or sold and refrain from entering pool halls during the next three years, according to terms of probation granted him this morning by Judge H. G. Ames.

His attorney, T. McFadden, Anaheim, made a plea to the court on Garten's behalf and said that a job was waiting for the youth upon completion of his 30-day jail sentence. Leo B. Friis, representing the district attorney, concurred in granting probation.

Two Change Pleas And Ask Probation

Appearing before Judge H. G. Ames as counsel for Jesus Magana, who was charged with driving an automobile while under the influence of intoxicating liquor and Arthur Galvan, charged with grand theft, Attorney W. Maxwell Burke today asked permission for both clients to withdraw their pleas of not guilty and to enter pleas of guilty at this time. He gave notice of filing applications for probation in both cases. S. B. Kaufman, representing the district attorney, offered no objection.

The permission was granted and August 7 set for hearings on both applications. Burke claimed that there were mitigating circumstances in both cases that justified the action.

nished the money and then failed to marry her as he had promised. Hudson had been listed as a fugitive late yesterday when deputies who had been searching for him, secured a fugitive warrant from District Attorney Buron Fitts.

Attorney Cantillon said that Hudson will waive extradition and proceed to Kelso, Wash., as soon as authorities desired to move him from Los Angeles. The attorney declared "What-a-Man" had an "air tight case."

When Hudson was booked in the county jail he gave his address as "Ma" Kennedy's beach house at 2020 Rhodes Ave., Hermosa Beach. His pockets yielded one dollar in silver, a cheap watch, a nail file and a copy of the New Testament. After his introduction to the booking sergeant, Hudson was taken to another department in the jail where he was fingerprinted.

Hudson smiled cheerfully at newspapermen, but answered all questions with the stock phrase: "I have nothing to say."

Smith, who succeeds Alexander, has been acting as assistant postmaster since last December. Prior to that time he had been in charge of the postal savings and money order department. He has been a clerk in the local post office for the last 16 years. Smith is well known in Santa Ana and has been a property holder in the county for years. He was a former director in the Santa Ana Junior Chamber of Commerce.

SUICIDE'S KIN SEEK MISSING MONEY OF MAN

Relatives of Henry Davis, 25, of 1048 West Fifth street, today were endeavoring to locate $1600 he is asserted to have obtained on a draft he had in his possession a short time before he committed suicide at his home Tuesday night, it was learned here today.

That the disappearance of the money may have been a reason for killing himself was expressed and assigned as a cause why officials were anxious to clear up this angle in the case.

A coroner's jury, in an inquest over the body of the man yesterday afternoon returned a verdict of death by suicide, but no part of the money angle was brought out during the inquisition. The jury merely determined that no one else was responsible for the death.

Mrs. Bertie Davis testified that her husband threatened to kill himself a short time before the fatal shot was fired. She was standing with him on the street at the time, she reported.

For two months and a half, from May 13 to July 23, the sun does not set in the little town of Hammerfest, off the northwest coast of Norway.

Real Rebuilt Typewriters!

Not just "touched up" to look nice and called "rebuilt" when they're not!

A Tiernan RE-BUILT typewriter is just that—and a lot more! The Federal Trade Commission defines a "rebuilt typewriter" for the protection of the public, but not all so-called "re-built" typewriters are really RE-BUILT!

A Tiernan re-built typewriter is practically as good as new—because all worn parts have been replaced with new parts, it has a new platen, it is newly enameled, perfectly aligned, and built all over right from the base up!

We do not "touch up" a typewriter and sell it as "re-built." Some do it, we're sorry to say, but it has never been done at Tiernan's. We'd rather have the continued confidence and satisfaction of our thousands of Southern California customers!

DEATHS

A WORD OF COMFORT

As you watch a great skyscraper being erected or the old cathedral being repaired, you are impressed with the necessity which demands that such work be done with the greatest care and the most perfect of scaffolding. Within this maze of scaffolding, the beautiful building slowly comes into being. When it is completed the scaffolding is removed, but the mighty structure endures. The body of man is like this scaffolding. At length that which was only secondary is set aside and the soul goes on unimpeded. You tenderly lay away that which was the house, the protection and the working tool of our dear one, but that one who lives and serves without hindrance.

2 MEN NAMED IN COMPLAINTS FILED TODAY

Complaints charging gambling were filed in Justice Kenneth Morrison's court at 10 a. m. today against the asserted operators of two slot machines, recently confiscated by Sheriff Logan Jackson. The complaints are against W. J. Johnson, service station employee of Wintersburg, who was arrested by the sheriff at the time his machine was confiscated at the service station, and the other is against "Red" Bailey of Santa Ana Gardens, named in the complaint as "John Doe Bailey."

Bailey has never been arrested. He was not at his confectionery store at the time sheriff's officers walked into the place and confiscated the machine and has not been arrested since that time. Following the filing of the complaints, the men will be brought in for trial on the gambling charges. Johnson was ordered released soon after his arrest, by the district attorney, pending court decision on a restraining order procedure and is free on his own recognizance. The restraining order was dissolved Wednesday.

The complaints allege that the men were operating the slot machine devices on July 15 and the charge is a misdemeanor, to wit, gambling with a slot machine. Sheriff Logan Jackson today stated that he made a flying trip around the county last night, visiting slot machine locations, but was unable to find any that were being operated illegally.

Told that it was rumored there were 25 in operation in the county, he asked for the location of them and intimated that he did not believe the report a true one. He stated that his men had been instructed to watch all machines and see that they are either operated in a legal manner or brought into the sheriff's office.

PRISON SENTENCE HALTED BY COURT

Unwillingness of J. F. Thompson, 22-year-old Mississippi youth, to permit his parents to learn of his difficulties with the law almost cost him a term in San Quentin this morning when, despite the advice of his attorney, A. B. Drumm, he requested that his plea for probation be withdrawn and sentence passed today. Thompson had pleaded guilty to a charge of grand theft.

In denying Thompson's plea, Judge H. G. Ames said: "It is not my intention to permit any 22-year-old boy to go to San Quentin without investigating the causes for his withdrawal of a plea for probation. If there are any mitigating circumstances upon which this court might extend leniency, the court wants to know it. If there is any reason why the defendant wishes to halt investigation into his past the court also wants to know that."

Thompson, on the witness stand, declared that he had never committed a crime before, nor were there any chapters in his past that he wished to conceal. Upon questioning by Judge Ames, prompted by Frank Drumm, appearing in behalf of A. B. Drumm, the prisoner's counsel, he finally admitted that his request had been prompted by a desire to keep his trouble from his parents in Mississippi. Time for hearing on probation was set for August 7.

FAIL TO REACH DECISION ON GLASS FACTORY

While early this week it was intimated by George Raymer, secretary of the chamber of commerce, that announcement as to whether or not the Pittsburgh Plate Glass company would be located in Santa Ana would be made here today, circumstances have prevented the announcement as scheduled, Raymer declared today.

A. J. Sevin, traffic manager of the Pittsburgh company, and W. G. Watson, construction engineer who will be in charge of the local factory should it be built here, returned last night from Nevada where they have been investigating sand deposits for use in manufacturing glass, the price was too high to justify its use, it was learned today. Another deposit in Nevada has come to the attention of the officials, and another investigation will be made early next week, it was reported.

Prices on fuel have not yet been definitely decided, it was revealed, and this is a major factor that must be settled before any definite announcement can be made, it was said. F. H. Devins, vice president of the Southern Counties Gas company was in Santa Ana today conferring with Charles Rutledge, manager of the local office, in an effort to set a price on gas for use by the glass company, it was reported.

Members of the Chamber of Commerce committee in charge of securing the right of way for the laying of railroad tracks to the factory which is to be located at the corner of Fairview and Bristol streets, are experiencing some difficulty in securing the right of way it was reported. Prices on land needed for the right of way are thought to be too high by members of the committee. This also is a major problem to be worked out before the glass company can be established in Santa Ana.

A conference of city and county officials with Watson and Sevin is being held today at the Santa Ana Country club.

Beach Man Hurt In Auto Mishap

James Donald O'Neill, 225 Crest street, Huntington Beach, was treated at the Orange County hospital at 10 a. m. today for cuts and bruises received when the automobile he was driving collided with a car driven by R. C. Holmes of 412 South Spadra street, Fullerton.

The accident occurred almost exactly in front of the Orange County hospital at the intersection of the Santa Ana boulevard and Chapman avenue. George Stinson, state traffic officer, took the injured man to the hospital.

SENTENCING OF YOUNG CARTER DELAYED WEEK

Upon request of Deputy District Attorney W. Menton and it being agreeable to T. McFadden, defense attorney, passing of sentence upon Robert Carter, Yorba Linda youth who was convicted, six months ago, of having fired a shot gun at a group of boys in an automobile and inflicting severe injuries on two of them, was continued until next Friday at 9:30 a. m. The continuance was asked pending an investigation of the total amount of the expenses incurred by parents of the injured boys and the willingness of Carter's parents to help defray these expenses. Sentence was deferred for six months at the time of the conviction.

A. J. Stambro, father of one of the injured boys, testified that his son has lost the sight of one eye due to the gunshot wound. He said that the Carters have paid a portion of the expenses incurred during treatment of the boy but have notified him that they will not be responsible for further bills.

Mrs. G. Lish, mother of the most seriously injured boy, said that her son has lost the sight of one eye entirely and that vision of the other is almost lost.

Specialists have advised her to have an operation performed for the removal of the one eye, she said. She testified that the Carters have refused to be responsible for any more bills.

W. B. Warren, a neighbor, testified to having helped young Carter place the boys in an automobile and take them to a hospital after the shooting, and M. E. Martin, rancher and deputy sheriff, living near the Carters, told the court that on the night of the accident, Carter came to his home after he had retired and reported that he had fired at the boys and "peppered" them. He said that Carter inferred that the wounds were nothing serious and he did not conduct an investigation at that time as he "knew he could reach Carter at any time he wanted him."

Carter was accused of having fired a shotgun at a group of boys who, he claimed, had been driving past the Carter home throwing things in the yard and annoying him. He said that he had intended to fire the shot over their heads to frighten them but had, accidentally struck them.

SUPERVISORS CONFERRING ON WATER NEEDS

Supervisors of Riverside, San Bernardino and Orange counties met in a closed session at the Mission Inn in Riverside today to discuss ways and means of raising $400,000 to watch a like amount previously appropriated by the state for water conservation works in the headwaters of the Santa Ana river in the San Bernardino mountains.

Riverside and San Bernardino counties have already agreed to appropriate $40,000 each and Orange county was expected to decide today what amount if any it will appropriate. The three counties recently completed a diversion dam across Santa Ana canyon at the headwaters of the stream at a cost of $80,000, but, with the aid of the state, plans are being made for an extensive program of water conservation in the canyon and on the San Bernardino mountain streams.

Members of the Orange county board have previously declared they would not make an appropriation for this work unless it would benefit Orange county, and that they did not believe the contemplated work on the upper Santa Ana river would be of benefit to this county.

The conference was arranged by Francis C. Cutler of Riverside, head of the Water Conservation association.

Entombment will take place in the Fairhaven mausoleum. The Rev. Perry F. Schrock, pastor of the First Congregational church, will officiate.

4000 MUSIC LOVERS PRESENT FOR CONCERT IN BIRCH PARK; 'SINGING COP' WINS APPLAUSE

By RUTH ANDREWS

Playing to one of the largest audiences assembled in Birch park this season, the Santa Ana Municipal band, directed by D. C. Cianfoni, was host last night to more than 4000 appreciative music lovers, gathered from many neighboring Southern cities to enjoy the concert presented by the band in honor of "Orange County Night". A special feature of the concert was the appearance of Orange county's own gifted tenor, George Stinson, "The Singing Cop", in a group of romantic lyrics.

Vivid, definitely accented rhythms of Director Cianfoni's stirring "Newport Harbor" march, composed only two seasons past, made buoyant prelude to a program chosen in popular vein.

Never failing to thrill, well-controlled rendition of the universally loved "William Tell" overture brought forth the customary, well deserved ovation this enduring old masterpiece always claims as its just due. Spectacular contrasts of the dramatic work were portrayed realistically, crash of the storm in a fury of well sustained orchestration succeeding the delicately pastoral opening andante, the tonal volume gradually subsiding in restored harmony. Allegro marcato of the finale was well co-ordinated.

Appropriate Encore
The familiar brass quartet selection from "Rigoletto", appealingly emotional, its wealth of Italian melody outlined with melio tone by the director's own trombone, made an appropriate encore. Winning warm favor, and especially typical of its composer with its maestoso chord effects and decisive rhythms, the classic "Huguenot" (Meyerbeer) was accorded a sincere interpretation, read by Cianfoni with evident respect for the heroic old masterpiece whose sturdy qualities have endured through the years.

George Stinson, heralded as one of this section's most talented singers, his talents already having won for him a role in grand opera this fall, and no doubt destined to carry him far, was accorded a hearty tribute of applause for his appealing song group. Stinson's fine tenor tone quality combines with evident, yet not obtrusive reserve of power, and to the simple, romantic lyrics "Trust in Eyes" (Gartner) and "Gritli" (Sanderson) he brought much tender feeling. He was capably accompanied by Frances Adams, in response to insistent demand, Stinson sang an encore in similar vein, "A Dream" by Bartlett.

Another Favorite
Another beloved old favorite, Verdi's "Il Trovatore", with its wealth of Italian melody, was colorfully shaded, outstanding themes including the familiar "Il Balen del Suo Sorriso", the descriptive "Anvil Chorus" and the tragic gravity of the "Miserere" closing with the director's trombone solo, "Oh, I Have Sighed to Rest Me," rich with feeling. As fitting encore, a brass trio offered "Musical Moment," a melodious gem composed by the director.

Spring-like grace of Romberg's "Maytime" charms with fluent, typical melody, its lyric quality and vivid close much appreciated, as was the popular Waldteufel waltz, "Les Sirenes," with its sensuously swaying play of light and shade.

The descriptive novelty, "In the Clock Store" offered in response to many requests, made interesting conclusion, its quaint humor much applauded. Announcement was made by Harry Hanson president and manager of the band, concerning next week's program when "Southern Night" will feature selections especially typical of the old south, also as a special attraction a chorus of about 30 colored singers in typical negro spirituals.

Asks Maintenance In Court Action

Alleging that her husband was sullen, jealous, fault finding and of a morose disposition and that he refused to provide a home for her away from his parents and that on October 19, 1930, he deserted her and has refused either to live with or provide support for her and their child, Dorothy Elizabeth Alexander has filed suit for separate maintenance against her husband William Donovan Alexander.

In her complaint she declares that she and the defendant were married at Buena Park on May 6, 1929, and separated October 19, 1930. Custody of the child, $60 permanent monthly alimony and attorney fees and court costs of the suit are requested in the complaint.

Wooster expects to move his family to Santa Ana about August 20. He will start his duties in the auditor's office August 3, it was announced.

EXPECT LARGE ATTENDANCE AT OIL MEETING

Nearly 140 prominent citizens of Orange county are expected to attend a meeting in Ketter's cafe at 6:30 p. m. today for the purpose of attempting to formulate a method of stabilizing gas prices in the county and to prevent the recurrence of "gas wars" in this section.

It was revealed today by George Raymer, secretary of the committee in charge of arrangements for the affair.

The local committee is composed of C. C. Chapman of Fullerton, A. J. Cruickshank, H. H. Benjamin, J. Frank Burke, Willard Smith and A. N. Zerman.

An excerpt from the letter of invitation sent out by the committee declared that "all of us know that favorable factors such as the recent gasoline price change, have often been too short lived to be of lasting benefit to business in general. However, the recent collapse, coming as it did during a period of general depression, had such a disastrous effect on all business, it seems to the committee, that the time has arrived for capital and labor outside the oil industry to take a position on at least one phase of the situation where our views would have some effect, that is, a firm stand against such a ruinous practice as the recent price cutting."

L. A. West, former district attorney, will be the toastmaster at the meeting and will introduce speakers who are coming from Los Angeles. James Martin, a broker and banker of Los Angeles, will be one of the 10 men who are to be here.

From Anaheim, L. E. Miller, mayor; Leo Sheridan, councilman; George W. Reid, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce; Dr. Walter Bigham, chairman of the county planning commission; William Doland and I. B. Bliss have signified their intention of attending. From Huntington Beach Willis Osborn, president of the Chamber of Commerce; A. W. Frost, district manager of the Southern California Edison company; C. P. Patton, city recorder, and C. W. Patrick are planning to attend. Many prominent citizens from other cities in the county are also planning to be present, according to Raymer.

Legion, Auxiliary Enjoy Barbeque

A joint barbeque and covered dish dinner attracted 110 members of the American Legion and Legion auxiliary to Irvine park last night. Following the dinner, which was served on tables in the open, the party adjourned to the pavilion where they enjoyed dancing for the balance of the evening. Mrs. Dean Collier and Mrs. Margaret Hill were in charge of the arrangements for the dinner and dance.

PRESBYTERIANS HONOR SANTA ANA MINISTER

Returning to Santa Ana from the annual meeting of the California Synod of Presbyterian churches, which closed at Sacramento this week, Rev. O. Scott McFarland, pastor of the First Presbyterian church of this city, arrived home last night after having been elected to the council of the Synod, a body composed of 18 men who form the executive council of the California and Nevada Presbyterian churches.

This council will meet in San Francisco next December. Further honors were bestowed upon the Rev. Mr. McFarland when he was asked by Dr. E. E. Ingram of Santa Rosa, Moderator of the Synod, to deliver the keynote address at this meeting and lead in the devotions.

Other Orange county delegates who attended the convention at Sacramento are Harry Lewis, Santa Ana; the Rev. Hugh McIninch, Laguna Beach; Carl Honkey, Capistrano; the Rev. Raymond I. Ebbetts, Laguna Beach; the Rev. Robert McAulay and W. H. Lowary, Orange; and the Rev. A. G. Carter, Westminster.

Various resolutions were adopted by the convention, which represents 100,000 members in more than 800 churches throughout California and Nevada. Prominent among these was the resolution commending the minority opinion of the supreme court by Chief Justice Hughes in the McIntosh citizenship case as expressing the Synod's attitude in the matter.

The Synod also discussed the problem of Soviet Russia, deeming it necessary to recognize Russia before the question of world peace and other problems can be decided on and adopted a resolution urging the U. S. government to consider the recognition of the Soviet union of Russia as all the other large nations have done.

A Word About Our New "SELL YOURSELF" Plan

One of my friends said: "Harry D., that 'Sell-Yourself' plan of yours stands out like a lighthouse in a fog. I have bought several automobiles and the thing that always 'got my goat' was when I'd display a little interest in a new car every automobile salesman in the community considered it his duty to POUNCE on me and ANNOY me until I bought an automobile out of sheer self-defense. Your 'Sell-Yourself' plan is a dandy and there is not a doubt in the world but what you'll get a lot of business, for the majority of people appreciate sales practices that are free from PRESSURE, CONFUSION and EMBARRASSMENT. More power to you." In adopting our new "Sell-Yourself" policy, you will benefit not only in having a more pleasant atmosphere in which to inspect our fine new cars and buy, but you will also benefit from the savings made in our not having the enormous expenses connected with maintaining a sales organization in more service when visiting our Service Department, but you'll get more personal attention from Harry D. Riley and also receive nearer the value of your old car to you, when buying either a new Studebaker or Pierce-Arrow. Come in and see our fine new cars. We're open evenings until 8 and Sunday mornings from 9:30 to 12:30 for your convenience.

'DOUBTS, CURES' DISCUSSED BY FAMOUS ARKANSAS EVANGELIST; SERMON FOR WOMEN SATURDAY

Taking as his text for the evening the 12th chapter of Hebrews, first and second verses, John Brown, Arkansas evangelist, delivered a message last night to his congregation on "Doubts, Their Causes and Cures."

"If you dig down to the bottom of your doubts you will find a seed and the name of the seed is sin," said the evangelist. "Whenever sin comes in at the heart, confidence in God flies out of the window of your soul."

Special delegations were present from sins and doubts, but it is the simplest step one can take. Victory in Christ. "Lay aside your weight of sins or doubts and run the race looking toward God. No matter what the burden is that presses down upon you, there is a victory in Jesus Christ. All of us stumble over the simplicity of the way to faith."

Issuing the last general call to prayer which will be made in the campaign, Brown asked all that wished deliverance to go in the inquiry room for a moment of prayer.

Tomorrow afternoon there will be a special message to women on the subject of "Husbands, Biscuits and Things." Tomorrow night the children's chorus will again put on a program and will sing some Negro spirituals. Sunday afternoon there will be a special men's delegation, the subject for Brown's talk being "Cain's Wife." There will be regular services tonight, but no morning services tomorrow, it was announced.

There are world's of people today who think that if they have faith they should be able to command God and do the supernatural. This is not an evidence of great faith, but an evidence of great foolishness. Faith is the most natural thing in the world. The purest and truest faith is that which dares to believe in God whether there are manifestations or not. Too many people think that if they have faith things have to pop. God gave us our heads and our legs to use them. We can't sit back and tell God to do everything just because we say we have faith.

Walking by Sight
"It is one thing to walk by faith and another thing to walk by sight, but too many of us are walking by sight. If God came to your heart tonight, would he find faith? Did you have faith in this revival campaign before it came to town? Most of us have to come and sample the meeting and, if it starts auspiciously, we say that it is going to be a big thing. Are you the sort that believes that a thing is going to be done before it happens? Without faith you can't please God!"

Perfect Faith
"The most damnable weight which is fastened to man is his doubts. Let us lay aside every weight which affects our confidence in God. If you sin every day, you are cursed by doubts every day. The idea that everyone has to have his besetting sin is foolish. Some people think that it is included in the level of our life to sin every day. As long as we believe that, we doubt."

Many Learning to Swim at Y Pool
All records are likely to be broken this year in the number of men and boys taught to swim at the Santa Ana Y. M. C. A. pool, it was thought today, when it was learned that due to the great demand, a new swimming class for beginners will be started next week at the association pool. Monday at 10 o'clock will see the opening of the fifth beginners swimming class which Physical Director R. R. Russick has coached this summer. This group is to be composed of boys, eight years of age and older, who are unable to swim at all. Other classes meet daily in the afternoon for practice and recreation.

Men are finding individual lessons under Russick's instruction a very helpful means of gaining ability to handle themselves in the water, it was announced. He gives the instruction to men individually or in small groups.

PROPOSAL TO MERGE OIL FIRMS HELD UP

NEW YORK, July 24.—(UP)—Unwillingness of Tidewater Associated Oil company executives to agree upon anything less than a share for share stock exchange basis for Sinclair Consolidated Oil corporation stock is holding up the merger of the two companies, it was learned today.

The current price of $11 a share for Sinclair compares with a market price of $5.62 1-2 a share for Tidewater Associated but representatives of the latter concern are demanding an exchange of these shares on an even basis if the companies are to be merged.

Harry F. Sinclair, chairman of Sinclair, intimated yesterday that progress was being made in the plan to merge Sinclair, Tidewater and also Rio Grande Oil.

KILLS THREE THEN COMMITS SUICIDE

HUNTINGTON, W. Va., July 24.—(UP)—A verdict of triple murder and suicide today was given by Coroner F. X. Schuller who investigated the deaths of the four members of the Pettigrew family whose bodies were found at their home here.

Neighbors broke into the house late last night and discovered the bodies of Robert Pettigrew, 41, his wife, Flora, 35, and their two children, James, 10, and Ardith, 14. The bodies were sprawled around two downstairs rooms in attitudes indicating the horror of the sudden, violent deaths.

COUNTY PUPILS SET NEW MARK IN ATTENDANCE

Attendance records of Orange county elementary schools were broken during 1930-31, according to an announcement made today by Ray Adkinson, county superintendent of schools.

Records compiled by the department show that the increase in attendance in elementary schools numbered 17, while the increase in high schools amounted to 347 students. In Orange county elementary schools 17,475 pupils were registered in average daily attendance last year, as compared to 17,298 for the school year of 1929-30. A proportionate increase in high school attendance also was noted.

High schools throughout the state showed a comparative increase of 17,366 or 7.58 per cent, to bring the average daily attendance of all such schools to 246,354.

Of all the bills introduced in the last session of Congress, only about 6 per cent were enacted.

HUMANE OFFICER, LINEMAN JOIN IN KITTEN'S RESCUE

The pitiful wailings of a tiger kitten on top of a telegraph pole reached the ever alert ears of the humane society last night and today the once stranded kitten has a home and is feeling the caresses of loving hands.

When Charles O'Gain, president of the Orange County Humane society, was informed of the plight of the kitten last evening, he went to the 900 block on North Flower street to "carry on" his humane activities.

The pole, an unusually tall one, was devoid of the usual iron rungs. Volunteers were unable to scale it and finally a call to the telephone company brought F. K. Stowe, a lineman.

A matter of a few seconds and the kitten, after 24 hours aloft, was brought to safety. Ten minutes later O'Gain had found a home for the fluffy ball.

"Just one of the functions of the humane society," declared O'Gain and he started home to finish an interrupted dinner.

U. S. STEEL TO CUT ANNUAL DIVIDEND

NEW YORK, July 24.—(UP)—Despite a lack of definite statements, Wall Street today accepted, as philosophically as possible, reports that the United States Steel corporation will cut its annual dividend rate at its directors' meeting next Tuesday from $7 a share to an annual $5—possibly $4—rate. Coupled with this report came an equally unconfirmed statement that this action would be paralleled on the industrial side by a cut in salaries and wages in order to meet competition from other leading producers.

Police News

Clifton Caraway, 20, student, of 316 West Second street, Santa Ana, was arrested at the Irvine park Wednesday night on a charge of disturbing the peace. He was brought to the county jail.

BUILDERS FROM SOUTHLAND IN SESSION HERE

Final arrangements for the annual Orange County Builder's Exchange picnic and the midsummer meeting of the Southern California Builder's Exchange conference, to be held jointly at Irvine park today, have been completed, it was announced today by Walter Wright, general chairman of the combined meetings.

A caravan of 100 cars left the corner of Third and Ross streets today at noon enroute to the park. Various Orange county cities were visited on the way to the park.

Sports events were held this afternoon, following which the business sessions of the conference was scheduled. A barbecue dinner will be served after the conference and following the dinner the 250 delegates and members of the Orange County exchange who are expected to attend, will dance in the pavilion.

A process for making industrial alcohol from natural gas waste has been developed in Canada.

HEART THROB SONG ON RADIO GETS RESULTS

During a recent broadcast Kate Smith, the Columbia songbird sang "Where Is My Wandering Boy Tonight?" in response to the request of a mother in a small Pennsylvania town.

The mother wrote the singer that her son had left home suddenly and had not notified her of his whereabouts. And because he was an ardent Kate Smith fan the mother hoped that if the singer would broadcast the song and mention his initials he might be listening in and turn his steps homeward. The mother was being overtaken by blindness and wanted to see her son before she lost her sight altogether.

It was a pathetic story and Kate was only too glad to be able to sing the piece in the hope that the wayward son had the dial turned to her broadcast.

As yet, no word has been received from the mother, whether or not the song had the desired results. But that it did have a most beneficial effect for one family is revealed in the following letter, bearing a Brooklyn postmark:

"Dear Kate Smith:
I heard you sing 'Where Is My Wandering Boy Tonight?' and I pray every night that he will return to his mother.
"However, here is a little story which you might like to know. I have a daughter, 17, and she thought that home was too small for her and a boy-friend, so she and a girl friend went away and got a job in Newark. My heart was broken because she was my only child. She heard you sing the song and tell the boy to go home and she decided that home and a mother's care was best after all. Two days afterwards she returned to our little home, and the family is united again.
"God bless you, Kate Smith, and every night I pray that the little mother about whom you sang will be as fortunate as I am.
"We all join in wishing you great and continued success.
"A HAPPY MOTHER."

Russick To Give Pointers About "Athlete's Foot"

R. R. Russick, physical education instructor at the Santa Ana Young Men's Christian association, will return to the microphone at KREG tonight at 9 o'clock with a 15 minute broadcast that should prove interesting to everyone. The talk tonight is titled "Locker Room Leprosy," and is based on the subject of athlete's foot.

A great majority of men are afflicted with this disease, it is said, and the discussion should bring out interesting facts and remedies for the cure of "Locker Room Leprosy." Russick has been prevailed upon to deliver a series of health talks for KREG fans.

Business Men's Program Will Present Trio

Ross Cortz and the Paradise Harmony trio popular favorites with KREG listeners, will provide the musical portion of tonight's Prosperity program broadcast to be on the air from the Santa Ana station from 7:30 until 8 p. m. it was announced today.

A group of prominent Santa Ana business men is sponsoring this series of broadcasts and a well known speaker will deliver an address on "Prosperity" as a feature of tonight's program.

The performance will be picked up from the stage of the Munich theater, in the town of Mozart's birth, and with an opera ensemble from La Scala, Milan. The festival was founded by Richard Strauss and Max Reinhardt, as a counterpart of the Wagner festival at Bayreuth.

RADIO FEATURES

BREA

BREA, July 24.—Following a short business meeting of the Legion auxiliary last night, those present were served iced watermelon by the hostesses, Mrs. L. A. Stumbo, Mrs. Ray Shoff and Mrs. Ben Sutton. Later they went to the golf links across the street, where Mrs. Isaac Craig and Mrs. T. P. Wallace were awarded first and second prizes for best scores. L. A. Hogue, who has been at Balboa for several days with his family, was called from there last night by a message announcing the sudden death of his father, 70 at Dickinson, N. D. Mr. Hogue left Los Angeles early Thursday morning for that place. While complete details of the accident which caused his death are not obtainable, it has been learned that the aged man, who was a railway employee, gave his life in saving that of a child that had wandered onto the track in the railway yards.

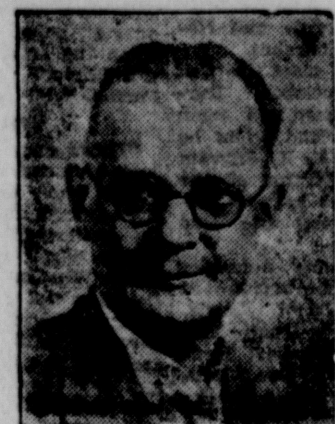

Cards are out announcing the coming marriage of Miss Lillian Woodward, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Woodward of this city to Lawrence A. Mitchell of Anaheim. The wedding will take place in the First Methodist church in Anaheim August 10th and a large number of friends have been invited to witness the ceremony and the reception which will follow. The young people will live in Fullerton. Dr. Glenn Curtis recently purchased the five-room dwelling belonging to the Union Oil company just back of the warehouse and facing on North Orange street. Curtis bought it with the intention of moving it to a lot he owns in Newport Beach. Officials of that city, however, would not permit him to move the house in and it was therefore torn down. With the lumber the doctor is having a double garage with a large sleeping room above erected on his beach property. New material is being used for several rooms which will form the front of the house. H. M. Massey and W. C. Churchill, both of Brea, have the work in charge and expect to complete the house within the next three weeks.

Co-eds Can Smoke But Must Evade Being Caught

YPSILANTI, Mich.—Co-eds at Michigan State Normal college may smoke if they wish, but if they're caught they may as well give up hope of teaching careers, says Charles McKenny, president of the school.

"I'm not looking on smoking as a moral problem but as a common-sense social problem," McKenny said. "The girls here are preparing to teach and Michigan doesn't want teachers who smoke."

"When these girls finish school they expect us to recommend them for positions. A great many schools in Michigan will not employ smoking teachers. If these girls smoke and we know it, we'll tell the truth about them when asked."

Brea Board Lets Trades School Building Contract

J. C. BLYSTONE BID ACCEPTED; WORK STARTED

BREA, July 24.—John C. Blystone, Brea contractor and builder, was awarded the contract for the trades building addition to the Brea-Clinda Union High school when the board met last night to consider bids for that work. Blystone's bid was for $27,788 for the general construction work. Blystone was also awarded the contract for plumbing at $2,000. H. M. Mussey, also of Brea, received the contract for electrical wiring, his bid being $2,865, and the Venetian blind contract went to the Venetian Blind company, Los Angeles, at $22.

Tom Oliver's bid of $1,600 for the heating was rejected and this feature of the general contract taken under advisement by the board.

Other contractors bidding were Nicolas South, Anaheim, $24,010; H. M. Mussey, $23,750; Carey and Pette, Fullerton, $23,628; A. V. Van Tyle, Brea, $22,950.

Plans call for a class "A" building of concrete and brick, the dimensions to be 55 by 106 and two stories high. The location of the new building will be just north of the cafeteria and between that building and the metal shop. Work of excavation begins today. Local labor will be given the preference and the board hopes to see the completion of the work within two months. Present plans include the use of the building with the opening of the fall term, although the work may not be fully completed by that time.

William Bailey of Oakland has been engaged as the instructor in automotive and electrical engineering, the two trades courses which are to be added to that of metal and wood shop training, already a part of the high school course. The automotive engineering course is a two-year course, while only an elementary first year course will be given in electricity for the present. Later, however, the board expects to extend this course.

While vocational training in itself is not a new educational feature in high school work, Brea-Clinda Union High school is believed to be pioneering in combining it with the academic courses in such a manner that the student may have the best of both. The idea is based upon the fact that many students are not privileged to attend a college or university after completing the high school course and are therefore unfitted to earn their living through having had no special training along vocational lines.

NUDE BATHERS DUE FOR COURT FINES

NEWPORT BEACH, July 24.—Judge W. A. Leonard stated today that he desired to serve notice through the press that nude bathers and those who strip to the waist on the beach will receive severe punishment if arrested and brought into his court.

Of two men caught bathing in the nude in broad daylight on the beach at the lower end of the peninsula, fines of $100 were administered by Judge Leonard. One man paid his fine and the other is serving 30 days in the city jail.

In the past few weeks 12 men and boys have been fined $10 each for appearing on the beach in shorts striped to the waist. "There is a heavy fine waiting for the nude bathers along the beaches," said Judge Leonard.

GUN CASE IS DISMISSED BY JUDGE TAUSCH

ANAHEIM, July 24.—A hung jury late yesterday afternoon caused the charge of displaying a firearm in the city limits of Anaheim that was filed against Nathaniel Taft, who operates the Taft Service station at the corner of South Los Angeles and Water streets, to be dismissed by Judge Frank Tausch.

The complaining witness in the case was Francis Bush, district supervisor of the Southern California Telephone company in Santa Ana, who charged Taft with pointing a gun at him the evening of June 19, after an argument concerning some money that Bush asserted Taft had cheated his wife out of some time before.

According to testimony offered by Bush, Taft became angry after being asked about the money that Mrs. Bush said she had been cheated out of and had offered to fight Bush after ordering him off the grounds. Bush declared that Taft offered to fight several times and had finally run into the service station to obtain a gun, which he pointed at him and ordered him to leave the premises. Bush testified that he was on his way off of the property when this occurred and that Taft had thrown rock and gravel at him.

Taft testified that Bush had insulted him by calling him all sorts of names and that he had gone into the station to procure a toy pistol that belonged to his son in order to scare Bush from the premises.

A few days after the argument Bush filed the complaint against Taft and later Taft came to the Anaheim police station with a gun that he said was the one he pulled on Bush. The one he showed to Captain Andrade was a toy pistol with a barrel six inches long. The one exhibited in the courtroom was of a different type and was not the same one, according to testimony offered by Captain Andrade.

Mrs. Taft, who was at the service station during the argument, declared that Taft had never had a real gun in the station.

The jury, which was composed of seven women and five men, was out nearly two hours. The members decided they could not agree on a verdict. When they returned to the courtroom Judge Tausch dismissed the case.

Leonard Evans was the attorney for the defendant and George Holden, Anaheim city attorney, was the attorney representing the people.

A good detour with a short wooden bridge across the river serves as a temporary passage.

DEATH VALLEY SCOTTY HEARS OF NEW RIVAL

SAN CLEMENTE, July 24.—Death Valley Scotty is in the news again. This time Death Valley Scotty broke out in the Canadian press, where he staged a fight for his liberty before the court of law. As Scotty was in San Clemente, when arrested in Cranbrook, British Columbia, it must have been another Scotty.

Scotty in San Clemente visited an old friend, A. T. Smith, formerly of Owens Valley, but now a Spanish village resident. The veteran mystery man of the desert told Smith he was soon to abandon his palace under the glaring sun. That story swept over the continent. A. T. Smith yesterday received a letter and two issues of the Cranbrook Courier from L. P. Sullivan managing editor of that paper, asking for a story from Death Valley Scotty, a picture and a specimen of Scotty's handwriting.

Here's the story. For a year or more a man posed as Death Valley Scotty in Cranbrook, British Columbia, and vicinity. He wore the familiar regalia, said little, but implied much. A year ago he was the hero of the Calgary stampede, wearing a five gallon hat, swaggering through the crowds, having his picture taken and reading front page stories of his exploits. He so impressed R. T. Pendry of Calgary and Vancouver and a group of associates, who had heard stories of his fabulous wealth, which he squandered and lurked in finding mines that they engaged him to prospect around Lumberton for hidden gold. After spending about $600 and having no mine the promoters had Scotty arrested. He stood trial on July 9, the same time Death Valley Scotty was entertaining a Los Angeles newspaper man at his desert home. But the Canadian Scotty is free, for the judge held that the accused might not be the man he claimed to be, but he could find no attempt to defraud. Had Scotty found mines the promoters would never have had him arrested, said the judge. They gambled on the luck of Scotty, lost, and then came to the courts for justice, the court declared.

ANAHEIM GAS DEALERS FAIL TO SET PRICE

ANAHEIM, July 24.—Efforts of service station owners in Anaheim to maintain a uniform price on gasoline within the city limits have met with no success. It was learned today from reliable sources. Gasoline today can be purchased anywhere from 10 1/2 to 16 cents a gallon.

Service station owners have held two meetings within the week, but no definite agreement could be reached, it was said. A number of the larger stations carrying standard brands of gasoline were maintaining the regular price of 16 cents across the street were underselling them from 2 to 5 1/2 cents a gallon.

In an investigation made yesterday, it was revealed that most of the service station owners favor a plan to maintain uniform prices, but, according to the proprietors, there are several station owners who refuse to comply with the wishes of the majority.

Representatives of local stations called at the station operated by Nathaniel Taft on South Los Angeles street this week to discuss the situation, after which Taft called the police station to get police officers to come to his station to run the visitors off the property, according to Anaheim police. The men had left when the police arrived on the scene, according to records on file at the police station.

Understanding The Standards Of Standing Up

IT'S not clothes that make you a smart woman these days—it's the way you wear them! Suave costumes, lithe lines, sleek coiffures call for self-confident posture, crisp gestures, clean-cut grace.

You must know how to lounge in hoyden abandon in sailor pajama beach suit in the day time and then swing into a natural, easy but graceful mien for eventide.

Be a gay tomboy if you will when out surf-board riding, or galloping down the bridge path. But if you are lunching at the Ritz, still be gay but not a tomboy.

How you stand, how you hold your elbows, shoulders, hands and head determine your chic this year. You can wear so many different kinds of things. But you must develop your very own characteristic positions, whether standing, sitting or walking, to be yourself.

Straighten yourself up, if you still have a slouch walk. Brace your shoulders if you sag. You must have the crispness of a spring breeze about your gestures or you will look like last year's picture in the latest of this spring's frocks.

THE modern girl is no out-and-out clinging vine. She grins openly at her escort, eyes frank and amused, rather than drooped. She can beat him at golf, chances are. She can drive her own car, order her own life. Why should she become "demure" just because she wears a dainty organdie evening gown?

Poise is what you should acquire, if you haven't it. To really make it part of yourself, you might try practicing different postures before the mirror. Take the pose you would have standing in your jaunty riding breeches and boots. Boyish, feet apart, fists on hips, shoulders back and up.

Put on your filmiest evening gown and take the same position. It doesn't work. You look like a country tomboy, all dressed up but with no sense of how to act. Therefore, retain the jauntness but drop the fists off the hips, put your feet nearer together. Don't you look better, though still modern?

THERE are certain arm motions good for tailored suit and coat usage that are not so good for dressy dinner attire. In the same way, you should hold your arms and hands quite differently when you are dressed for lunch and sitting opposite a friend from the way you carry them when idly smoking and reading.

Straighten out your whole body, head up, shoulders not too square but with a suggestion of squareness, hands definitely adding modern grace to your posture. No curling of little fingers around tea-cups. You don't want to simmer while you're in a pajama age.

The secret of proper posture in the new clothes this summer is that, if you are really modern, you will be 100 per cent healthy, with nothing tight to hold your breath in, with no confining this or that, with head gracefully poised atop a well-straightened spine and arms that relax with ease from shoulders that have self-reliance written in their proud bearing.

The thing that will put you over as ultra-smart will be to know when to be super-hoyden and when to be merely crisp and graceful.

AN artificial pose isn't any more successful today than it was in the Victorian era, when every girl was supposed to gather up her petticoats and hop on a chair when a mouse scampered by, even if she felt no fear of the scampering animal.

First, foremost, and last, be natural. If you wear the type of costume that is appropriate for the occasion your actions will naturally take their cue from it. When you are wearing a clinging chiffon with a wisp of lace showing here and there, you can no more help putting on an intriguing party mood than the moon can keep from spilling its broken silver on the trees.

If your golf togs are crisp and colorful and made for sports instead of just pretending that they are, you will go around the course with a healthy interest in every drive, which is exactly the way that you should. Choose the right clothes. Then live up to them!

beach pajamas demand nonchalance... but you wouldn't be this nonchalant in dinner pajamas.

this picture... looks all right for riding clothes... but see how awkward it looks when you wear an evening gown.

make your movements as graceful as your gown... for evening.

by daylight... be brisk and smart and man-nish, with your hands in your pockets.

Diet in a Lunch Box

By MISSIS PHYLLIS

A FEW women have to pack a lunch for a husband or children every day. Most women have to pack a lunch once in a while. Whichever way you have to do, there is always the question of what to put in.

If you do it every day you are tired of thinking of things to put in, and if you don't do it very often, you haven't had enough practice, perhaps.

If you are planning a meal at home it is easy enough to remember to include something with protein—meat, eggs, cheese, peas or beans; something with starch—bread, potatoes, macaroni; something green—spinach, cabbage, lettuce, watercress, onions; something raw—radishes, tomatoes, cabbage; and something sweet—a dessert of any kind, or, if fruit is the dessert, a cookie or cake to eat with it.

But when you are planning a meal that is to be packed in a box or bag it is harder to plan all these parts of a well-balanced diet. Desserts that aren't fruit or cake and salads of almost any kind are very hard.

FIRST there is the matter of that old standby for all packed lunches—sandwiches. For children peanut butter and honey, and chopped egg sandwiches are pretty constant favorites.

The children should be encouraged to try something new now and then. Try them on a tomato and lettuce sandwich. The surest way to have thumbs down on this from children or grown-ups is to have luscious thick slices of tomato, curly lettuce and drippy mayonnaise. A packed luncheon should always be one that can be easily eaten and readily handled. That sort of sandwich should be confined to tearooms where plates and forks are available, as well as tables.

Sandwiches that are intended to be consumed on plates with forks certainly can't be eaten from a lap with fingers. Spread one slice of bread evenly with softened butter. Spread the other slice with well-seasoned mayonnaise. Slice a tomato in very thin slices. Use leaf lettuce that is very crisp, and place one trimmed leaf and one thickness of tomato for the sandwich filling. Press the bread together and you have a good sandwich that is easily eaten and is good for your digestion.

If your family will eat whole wheat or graham bread so much the better.

If you pack lunches at all often it is a good plan to keep on hand the "makings" for several kinds of sandwiches—packages of cheese, jars of jelly, figs, nuts, tuna fish, sardines on the shelf, and celery, lettuce, eggs and olives in the refrigerator. Now at almost any time you can make a salad sandwich—finely chopped celery and radishes with perhaps a bit of onion mixed with fish or a bit of chopped cold meat.

ALWAYS keep the sandwiches neat and with only enough filling to be handled well, and that filling not too moist. Chopped olive with hard cooked eggs make a very good sandwich, and another egg combination that isn't so frequently used is hard cooked egg and cooked sausage put through the food grinder. A very little leftover sausage can be made to go a very long way.

Dates, figs or dates ground with nuts are excellent. Any of them may well be mixed with cream cheese, too.

Thinly sliced cucumbers make a good healthy sandwich and one which is refreshing at this time of year. You may happen to have a husband who scoffs at these. There was once such a husband and he had a wife who was certain he would like them if he would ever try them. But she didn't want to put them in his luncheon box until she knew they would be welcome. She knew him well enough to realize that just to look at them slipped in unsuspectingly would ruin his lunch and his temper.

So she served them one evening when they had a couple in to play bridge. He tried one—just to be polite, even though there were other kinds—and he found they tasted pretty good. Try the same method on these or any other kind that you think would help to give variety.

Beauty Clay Debunked

By MORRIS FISHBEIN, M. D.

MOST women can remember when beauty clay was the popular advertised technique for securing a beautiful complexion. Practically all of the complexion clays which sold for sums of $2 to $15 for a package containing less than a pound of material were composed of water, a little glycerine, chalk, and traces of mineral salts.

Essentially they were nothing but clay and water, proving again the statement that even mud put in a fancy jar with claims that it has value in beautification will bring from $5 to $10 a package.

Notwithstanding the fact that it has been shown that such preparations cannot have a very marked effect, women continue to spend as high as $2.50 a package for simple epsom salts, corn meal or similar "reducing" preparations.

One of the most striking of all examples of the silly season in cosmetic treatments is the appearance on the market of artificial tans to color the legs of ladies who wish to give the impression that they have been at the seashore when they have not even had a sack of sea salt in the house. There is a fine effect to be had by exposure of the skin to the sun in proper dosages, but nothing is to be gained by smearing on tan, except the deceit of those who ought to know better.

FAITH springs eternal in the breasts of women who are in search of beauty. Not only the uneducated worker in a factory, on a farm, or in a store but the ladies of multiple millions and of high society are among the purchasers of preparations for the care of the skin which are without value and which may be dangerous.

Associated with the demand for such products is the desire for artificial beauty represented by the sale of rouge, powder, skin dyes, and similar preparations. In 1921, American women paid $150,000,000 for perfume and cosmetics and this expenditure included 240,000,000 packages of talcum and face powder, and 18,000,000 packages of rouge.

During the same period the beauty parlor came upon the scene, and today there is hardly a village in the country which has not at least one shop devoted to artificial beautification of femininity.

Cold creams, powders and rouge should not be necessary for young girls between the ages of 12 and 20. At this time, health and the skin should be at their best.

New Styles In Woods

OAK furniture, particularly in the 17th Century English styles, is destined to make the most decisive advance in popular favor during the summer and fall of 1931.

Early American, furniture manufacturers believe, may still remain the leading style in volume of sales, but it is either now at its peak or has passed that point and is declining in popularity. In bedroom furniture, especially, a trend away from the Colonial styles is forecast.

French Provincial is due to remain a favorite, the ever-popular English Georgian styles have a strong following. Queen Anne, French Empire and Directoire are holding up well, and the market for contemporary furniture, while still small, is growing.

Of 17th Century English designs, one of the largest furniture manufacturers says:

"For the coming season, we expect to feature suites with the old English influence. This period will predominate in the medium and better grades of furniture. It will be shown in solid oak and in oak and walnut combinations. This period is adaptable to the present trend, inasmuch as it is sturdy-appearing and well balanced as to ornamentation, carvings, mouldings, turnings, etc. It holds out to the average buyer more for his money than any period we have had in the past several years.

Other trends include a definite movement toward love seats, part of the trend to smaller furniture. Bookcases of all kinds, but particularly the pier type, are reported to be popular.

The lamp industry, several leading companies in that field report, will see further emphasis on simple designs, with shades of parchment, silk, tapestry or metal. The "davenport" lamp continues to replace the older "bridge" lamp.

Boy Money

By OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

BERT sat down to the lunch table.

"Mother, may I have 50 cents? Our baseball club needs money."

"No indeed you can't. I gave you a quarter yesterday."

"Yesterday! No you didn't. That was a long time ago."

"Yesterday." Bert thought hard. "I put it in the school box for those poor children. What day was that? Oh, I know, it was the day the singing teacher was there—last Friday. I remember because—"

"Never mind. You're always after money. I never saw such a child. Why doesn't Mr. Arrott finance the club? His Johnny's in it and he's a millionaire."

"He did give $5, but the fellows—oh, I dunno! They all want to pay part, so they can do as they like. You know! We don't want Johnny to own us."

Bert was too young to explain or even to understand the meaning of independence that underlies self-respect. He could not put into words the fact that the boys in the baseball club wanted to feel they were going their share to make it a go. And his mother did not analyze it either. If she had probably she would not have vetoed Bert's next suggestion.

"COULDN'T I do something for you? I'd like to earn that 50 cents some way."

His mother smiled at this. "You earn 50 cents? You can't do anything that I know of, child. No, don't coax. I'm sorry, but I have to cut out these extra money demands of yours."

Then she changed the subject. "I'm driving to town at half past three. Can you get excused?"

"What for?"

"You need some things. Shirts and ties, stockings—and Painter's are having a wonderful sale of suits, too. I'd like to get you a gray. That ought to cheer you up. There isn't a better dressed boy in town than you, Bertie."

He hated "Bertie," but in certain mellow moods she called him that.

"I hope you appreciate what I do for you. How I work and save to keep you looking like a gentleman. I think I'm a pretty good mother."

"Well, I'll be going to school," he said uncomfortably. "I—don't really need any clothes, though. Gee, I wish I could earn that 50 cents."

A lawn mower began to spin outside. "Judson is here early. It's only a quarter to one." Mrs. Miller looked at the clock.

Suddenly Bert thumped his fist on his palm. "Say!" he cried. "Say! I've got a grand idea. Send Judson away and let me cut the grass after school, instead of going to town. You can pay me instead of Judson. I can do it fine."

"NO, Judson has done it all spring and—I wish you wouldn't bother me with your plans. Really, you are terribly ungrateful. Any other boy would enjoy getting new things. Maybe if we go to dad's office he'll take us to dinner and a movie tonight."

Bert had another idea then. "Maybe if I ask him, he'll give me the movie money and I can come home on the car."

"You are certainly the most persistent child I ever saw," said his mother. "Don't mention that plan to dad. He'll want you to be with us. It's a good show, 'The Love Garden.'"

Bert went to school, to the store, to the restaurant, to the movie.

But he was unhappy. All his new clothes did not cheer him.

In the next week he raised the 50 cents cutting grass after school on the other side of town. Indeed he earned $1. But he didn't tell his mother. She would have objected. The money went to the ball club and the incident was closed; at home the matter was forgotten.

CHILDREN need help with their plans. Parents too often reserve all rights as to the expenditure of money, forgetting that there are small moral responsibilities that boys and girls feel they must meet, debts of honor so to speak.

Too often parents make the mistake of believing that the things which make them happy will make their children happy. They forget that even adult natures differ, and differ greatly. Two people can not receive the same proportion of enjoyment from any stated pleasure, and when it comes to children the chasm is a great deal wider.

Children merely ask for the privilege of trying their own wings. They are willing to earn their way. When this is refused them they are lost in a baffled, grown-up world which does not hesitate to spend money freely on them, when they do not want it—but won't permit them to earn some which they not only want, but need, if they are going to keep their status in the juvenile world.

S. A. GROUP TO ATTEND CHURCH MEET MONDAY

Approximately 20 members of the First Christian church congregation in Santa Ana are planning to attend sessions of the Forty-Third Annual Convention of Christian Churches of Southern California which starts Monday in Los Angeles. The Rev. W. S. Buchanan, pastor of the church here, will be in daily attendance and is scheduled for an address on "Young People's Work" in the afternoon, Saturday, August 1.

Sessions will be held in the auditorium of the Wilshire Boulevard Christian church, corner of Wilshire boulevard and Normandie avenue, starting next Monday and closing the following Sunday with the big communion service that annually attracts thousands of church members to the final ceremony of the convention. More than 4000 persons are expected to be in attendance at conference sessions.

Mayor John C. Porter will speak at the opening session delivering the address of welcome. In behalf of the church, the pastor, Dr. H. H. Griffiths will welcome the delegates and visitors. The other feature of the evening will be the annual address of the president, Dr. Russell F. Thrapp. His topic will be "The Church of the Century."

One of the features of the conference that will interest all persons connected with the active work of the church in Southern California will be the frank discussion of what are called "local church problems."

In this group will come the problem of increasing church attendance, the question concerning the pastor and the vital question of the church budget which more and more is pressing upon all church organizations for solution.

In carrying out the theme of the convention, "My Personal Accountability to God," the gathering this year will lay unusual stress on the missionary elements of church work.

Throughout the entire convention there will be daily sessions devoted to mission work. In this part of the program missionaries from all over the world will participate.

ARCH FORMS FARMS

PAYSON, Ariz.—Arizona's oldest farm is a five-acre piece forming the top of the arch of Goodfellow's Natural bridge in the colorful district north of Roosevelt dam. The soil of the farm is good. The bridge is 180 feet high and has a wall to wall spread of 250 feet.

LOVE WASN'T BLIND

MEMPHIS.—A blind ophthalmologist with offices here, charged in a divorce suit that his wife, who also is blind, was in love with another blind man. He was granted the plea after two witnesses, both blind, had corroborated his statements.

BLOOD PRESSURE MAY BE REDUCED

High blood pressure is not only dangerous, but entails suffering which often is needless. But you can get rid of the kidney and bladder weakness, blinding headaches, back-break pains and torturing nerve tension while reducing pressure.

Ask your druggist for a box of Wildunger Tee, which contains valuable mineral salts from the famous Wildunger Bad in Germany. Unless the very first box brings grateful, comforting relief, your money back.

A New York doctor while traveling in Germany was so impressed with the results thousands were securing from this great kidney and bladder activator that he brought Wildunger Tee to this country. Many American doctors now prescribe it and report that its benefits are equally surprising here.

You can get Wildunger Tee on the distinct understanding that unless it helps, your money will be refunded to you. It may be had at C. S. Kelley, Druggist, 101 East Fourth St., Santa Ana.—Adv.

12 WAYS You Can PROVE ALLSTATE is America's Greatest Tire Value!

When we put ALLSTATE tires on the market, it was with the thought that they would be worthy of the Sears name and the Sears reputation. So we went to the manufacturer whose record was without a single blemish—whose products were accepted everywhere as the standard of rubber quality.

Thus the greatest tire manufacturing organization, trained and experienced in the production of America's finest tires, and the world's greatest distributing organization, dealing with over 12 million families, joined in making and selling ALLSTATE tires. Unknown six years ago—unnamed as well—ALLSTATE'S quality has brought this tire to leadership in sales direct to users. Never, in the history of the tire industry, has there been a success to match ALLSTATE'S. Today individual tire buyers, in selecting tires, pick ALLSTATE over all other brands.

AND YOU SAVE 25%

ALLSTATE is a first quality tire. First quality, we said, and we mean that. We are willing to let you judge by quality standards alone whether ALLSTATE tires are the tires for you to buy.

ALLSTATE is so good, so well made, so sturdily built, that we are proud of its construction. There are, as all tire engineers know, 12 real factors of quality in every tire—not three, not six, not nine, but twelve. So that you may know them, we are listing them here.

COMPARE These PRICES

Automobile manufacturers do not use the Second Line Tires of National Manufacturers as original equipment. Why should you take the risk when you can save money by buying genuine, FIRST QUALITY ALLSTATE TIRES, backed by a responsible guarantee and with a saving of 25%? Even if the tire size for your car is not listed, we have it—and we will save you up to 25%.

BABE SAYS ROBINS WILL WIN
Last year Babe Ruth picked our ball team to finish seventh. Our manager, Uncle Wilbert Robinson, went over to the Yankees dugout one afternoon and asked him to explain that slander.
Our team, if you must know, is the Brooklyn Robins. It has been our team every since the springtime when your correspondent was beguiled by the banging of bats at Clearwater where Robie had his men in training—was beguiled in fact as to pick the team to win the National league championship in this year of reverse prosperity, 1931.

BUT WHY?
Well, last year when Uncle Robie called and asked the Bambino to tell him why he had named the greatest ball team Robie ever managed to wind up seriously close to the eighth—the Babe retorted:
"I'm picking you clowns for seventh because the Phils can't be bailed out of that cellar. If the Phils could win a few games you'd be eighth."
To which Uncle Robie, in high dudgeon, replied:
"We'll have a better standing than you high hat Yankees when this season's over."

THEY FOOLED HIM
Well, as it turned out, the Robies won 86 ball games last year and lost 68. And the Yankees? Maybe you didn't notice it, but they also won exactly 86 ball games and lost 68. Old Robie came very close to making his predictions good.

This year the Babe says Brooklyn will win the flag. He said it even before the season started, and the other day in New York he told me he had not weakened. And why should he? Such power cannot be equaled forever. Some of these days soon those large logs will start booming in union, and things will be just too bad.

CLARK IS INSPIRATION
Leading in the drive of the Robies is that iron man of the mound, Lefty Watson Clark, and he isn't the best southpaw in the National league today, who is it? It is true that until this year his record hasn't been quite like Lefty Grove's, but he recently started on a hot streak during which he was unbeatable. When I looked at the averages the other day the Dodgers, in third place, were batting sixth and Clark had won eight games, six of 'em in a row. What will pitchers like Clark, Vance Shaute, Luque, Phelps, Quinn and Thurston do when the club's hitters start finding themselves?

Clark, a Louisiana boy, is only 26 years old. Working in 40 ball games a season is pie for him. He got his start pitching for Mississippi college and Cleveland gave him a tryout in 1924, sending him to Terre Haute. Iron Man McGinnity, nosing around the Three-Eye, sent him to Uncle Robie in 1926. His record of 49 wins against 46 losses up to 1931 does not indicate his real effectiveness, for Clark has always been a hard-luck pitcher.

Now that he is on the winning trail, look out for him—and for the Robies.

DID YOU KNOW THAT—
Every twelve hours a ball player is on his way to or from Dallas, Texas. . . . The railroads in Texas have been materially assisted by Messrs. Bob Tarleton and Sol Dreyfus, buying transportation for Dallas ball players. . . . and ex-ball players. . . . Only three regulars who started the season remain. Ted Robertson and Dugan Phelan are having a tough time at Port Worth, several experienced players having failed to click this season. . . . Recently Port Worth offered Eddie Moore (until last year one of the league's best outfielders). Boob Fowler (a pretty fair third baseman) and Hank Hardaway (a good pitcher) to Galveston, along with cash, for Black Bill Harris for such a kindly gesture. . . . and received a Bronx cheer. Claude Robertson is doing a pretty fine job of managing at San Antonio with not much to work with.

TACKLE PLAY
The right tackle on Southern California football teams must have the strongest offensive because it is his side off which the Jones system's player plays hit. The left side demands the strongest defensive tackle.

British, French Tie In Court Play

COCHET WHIPS AUSTIN: PERRY BEATS BOROTRA

ROLAND GARROS STADIUM, AUTEUIL, France, July 24.—(UP)—Davis cup tennis teams of France and Great Britain divided today's two singles victories, as the French began their defense of the historic courts trophy.

After Henri Cochet, idol of French tennis enthusiasts, had defeated England's young star, H. Wilfred ("Bunny") Austin, 5-6, 11-9, 6-2, 6-4, Frederick J. Perry, No. 2 man, defeated Jean Borotra, veteran Basque player, 4-6, 10-8, 6-0, 4-6, 6-4.

Austin completely outplayed Cochet in the first set and in the first half of the second. He twice reached set point, but on each occasion Cochet won the ensuing points. Austin's game then deserted him and he committed many faults.

A crowd of 14,000 watched the play. The weather was sultry.

Borotra began brilliantly and appeared to be a certain victor. He had almost no trouble in winning the first set, but soon his play became erratic. He drove into the net and past the base line repeatedly.

Perry, too, was erratic, but usually managed to settle down to steady play at the crucial moments.

The doubles teams were not announced. It was expected, however, that Cochet would pair with Jacques Brugnon and that Perry and George Patrick Hughes would form the British team. The doubles will be played Saturday, with the two remaining singles Sunday.

OLIVE, SANTIAGO HOLD LEAGUE LEAD

Olive and the Santiago Packers were still leading the Orange County Night Baseball league today as a result of their one-run victories last night.

Olive defeated Garden Grove, 5-4, despite a pair of homers by Flips, Pepper pitcher, and Santiago won from the Concordia club, 8-2. Homers won for the Packers, Curt Youel contributing one in the opening inning and Rubidoux booking another with Pea aboard in the fourth.

The scores.
Santiago Packers R H E
Concordia Club 2 7 1

Olive R H E
Garden Grove 5 4 2

S. A. GOLFERS SET FOR 36-HOLE PLAY

With Hill and Carden, local clothiers, offering as prizes a pair of knickers and a sweater for low net scores, the Santa Ana Country club will conduct a 36-hole medal play golf tournament Saturday and Sunday.

Women's sweepstakes held the boards yesterday. Mrs. Hugh Shields and Mrs. Gordon Talbert winning best ball in class A with a card of 87-10-77. Three "teams" tied for second, Mrs. L. H. Robinson and Mrs. O. Pixley, 91-9-82; Mrs. R. C. Noble and Mrs. J. L. McFadden, 88-6-82; and Mrs. R. W. Townsend and Mrs. C. V. Doty, 92-10-82.

Mrs. Roy Langley and Mrs. Walter Prince won in class B for low number of putts. They took 24. Mrs. E. B. Van Meter was next with 33.

Mrs. Foster Lamm, Miss Lu Pomeroy and Miss Dorothy Diehl tied for first in class C with 37 putts.

INGRAM O. K. AFTER SUDDEN OPERATION

SAN FRANCISCO, July 24.—(UP)—William ("Navy Bill") Ingram, University of California football coach, was reported recovering today from an emergency appendicitis operation performed yesterday at St. Luke's hospital.

Dr. Alanson Weeks said that a day's delay might have proved fatal, but that the coach now was in good condition.

"They've got to get me well in a hurry," Ingram said. "This is a big season for us."

"He'll be ready to play himself when the season rolls around," Dr. Weeks promised.

NOT JUST A SPRINT
According to Charley Paddock, there are points in a 220-yard dash when the sprinter should drive especially hard and other places where he should ease up and conserve his strength.

Bell Winner Over White In Net Play

Only John Cress stood today between Randolph Bell and his second successive Santa Ana city tennis championship. Their match Monday will decide whether Bell completes the current round-robin tournament undefeated or in a tie for first place with Cress.

Before the largest gallery of the tournament, Bell yesterday turned back Toby White, 7-5, 2-6, 6-1, on the High School courts. Previously White had lost only one match.

Bell and White started cautiously, both playing mediocre tennis until the third set when Bell hit his stride and quickly ended the match. White never was able to get going. Bell's strong service was all that made up for his numerous outs and nets in the first set, and even his serve failed him in the second set. However, his fine placements had White on the defensive throughout the final and deciding games.

Arno Finster defeated Ernst Zimmerman, 6-4, 6-1, in the only other tournament match completed yesterday.

The 20-30's only run was the product of Bell's triple in the sixth, whereas Al's Auto Service knocked Ray Price out of the box in five innings, profiting by many bobbles by the clubmen.

The scheduled curtain-raiser between the First Baptists and the First Presbyterians was forfeited to the latter team, 9-0, because the Baptists were unable to put a full team of eligibles on the field. It was the third successive default by the Baptists, and put the Presbyterians in a tie for first place with the Hill-Carden.

WARD TO COACH GRID TEAM AT GARDEN GROVE

John Ward, former University of Southern California football player, will return to his alma mater at Garden Grove as football coach in September, it was announced today.

Ward's coaching position will be on a part-time basis as he is continuing his studies leading to a degree of doctor of medicine.

John Mitchell, Garden Grove mentor for the past two years, will remain in charge of the athletic department but most of his time will be occupied with the duties of vice principal, a post to which he was recently promoted.

Ward helped to provide finances for his medical schooling last fall by playing professional football as a tackle with the Minneapolis Yellowjackets. Two of his teammates were Nate Barrager and Tony Stepanovich, both former Trojans. Stepanovich was recently appointed director of athletics at Oceanside High school.

Ward is now attending the summer session at the University of Southern California.

McCARTHY FAVORED

LOS ANGELES, July 24.—(UP)—Maurice J. McCarthy, Jr., New York golfer who eliminated George Von Elm from the national amateur golf tournament at Merion last year, will play his qualifying round of the 1931 national amateur at Riviera Country club next Tuesday.

McCarthy and Roland Macenzie, a member of the 1930 Walker cup team, are favored to win two of the four places allotted this district in the national test.

Hole-In-One Is Made By Farnsworth

F. E. (Ed) Farnsworth, vice president of the First National bank, had shot himself into the golfers hall of fame today.

Using a No. 3 iron, he made a hole-in-one on the tricky, 175-yard No. 6 hole at the Santa Ana Country club yesterday. It was the twenty-eighth ace at the country club since the new course was opened several years ago.

Dr. C. E. Saulsbury, R. W. (Bill) Cole and Robert E. Reid were playing in a foursome with Farnsworth when he turned the trick.

Other hole-in-one makers at the club: G. B. Shattuck, Z. B. West, Jr., A. W. Rutan, C. E. Parker, M. R. Lacy, Miss Enid Twist, R. E. Dye, Paul Williams, W. C. Fletcher, J. S. LOS ANGELES, July 24.—(UP)—Howard Jones, who has been turning out sensational football teams at Southern California since 1925, thought it a bit early to be talking about the coming gridiron season, but he thumbed through a few of last year's scoring programs today and offered some interesting predictions.

Southern California, Stanford and Washington are certain to have big, strong teams this year and should finish high up in coast football, he said.

Washington State might be very good, he thought, but he couldn't be sure. Oregon, Oregon State and California, he held to be unknown quantities with possibilities of successful records.

Coast football, as usual, will compare favorably with that played in any section, Mentor Jones stated.

"It may even be a little better on an average than that played in the east, midwest and south," said Jones, a cautious spokesman.

He looks for Moffat and Neill of Stanford, Schalchad of California, Schwegler and Hufford of Washington, Edwards of Washington State, and Mohler and Pinkert of Southern California to be the outstanding stars on the coast.

"It's a little early to tell much about it," Jones said, "but it looks right now as if Stanford, Washington and Southern California should have the leading teams."

"Those three seem to have the best material on hand. Washington State might be strong but it lost a great bunch of ball players by graduation and I don't know whether the material is there for replacements."

"Bill Ingram probably will have a pretty good club at California, but it's his first year there and his system probably won't be working as effectively as he would like until 1932."

"Oregon and Oregon State seem to be well-shaped for first teams and a lot will depend on their reserve strength."

As for his own prospects, Coach Jones said this:

"It's an almost unheard of thing for a football coach to predict a good season but I will say this: Southern California should have a team at least as good as that of last year."

"We lost some good men by graduation, but on the whole our replacements are adequate. If we don't have a decent season it will be the fault of myself and the boys on the team."

Jones said he hoped to be able to play Ernie Pinkert, his Al-American halfback of last year, at fullback this season. He worked him at that position in spring practice and only the failure to develop a strong blocking halfback will keep Pinkert from the fullback spot.

HEALTH CAMP GRADUATES TO STAGE PICNIC

ORANGE, July 24.—At least 50 of the children who have stayed at the Orange County Health camp and who are organized in an alumni association, are expected to be present at the picnic at Huntington Beach July 29, the affair being a part of a health educational program of those in charge of the camp above Irvine park.

Between 400 and 500 children have lived at the camp since it was established in 1924. Several children from a family have been at the camp. It was said, and 124 invitations were sent out, all of those in one family being included in one invitation. All children and young people who have lived at the camp are eligible to attend the picnic.

Transportation is to be furnished to those who wish it and each boy and girl is to take some article of food for the picnic supper, which is to be served on the sand at 5:30 o'clock and which is to be featured by a vespene bake. Orange juice will be served. The group is to meet in front of the plunge at 1 p. m. and a swim will be enjoyed until 4 p. m.

Pioneer Building On S. Olive Street Boys' Clubhouse

ORANGE, July 24.—A clubhouse is the ambition of all boys but it is seldom that two young lads achieve their desires by having one of the oldest and largest buildings in a city at their disposal. However, this is the enviable position of Jack Garland and Bob Andrick, 15-year-old boys of this city, who have been inseparable since early childhood.

The boys have been given the freedom of the John Law building on South Olive street and have established sleeping quarters as well as a workshop in the ramshackle old structure which once housed steeds of this vicinity and whose empty stalls are a mute testimony to changing times.

Until a year ago the old building was topped by a huge wooden orange used in a parade here many years ago. The orange was removed when it became apparent that it was probable that it would soon topple over.

GROWERS GET $98,000 FROM LEMON HOUSE

ORANGE, July 24.—Growers affiliated with the Central Lemon Growers' association will receive a payment of $98,000, an advance on fruit graded during the month of June, according to an announcement at the packing plant yesterday by Roy Runnels, manager.

The payment now being made is said to be one of the largest advance payments made this season and represents 2 1/2 cents a pound on graded fruit for June and one-half cent a pound on all fruit graded from November 1, 1930, to June 1, 1931.

The picks last month were said by the manager to have been the largest in the history of the association, 70,215 boxes being picked. Picking of the present crop is nearly finished, it was said. About 100 cars of fruit are now in storage and about four cars a day are being shipped, it was said.

HIS brow is wet with honest sweat—but not his Camels. Nor will yours be, no matter how hard you work or play.

Whether you labor outdoors in the rain or indoors in the heat, whether you whip a trout-stream, or whatever you do, your cigarettes will never be stained or soggy or unwholesome—if you carry Camels.

Camels are blended of fine Turkish and mild Domestic tobaccos, made fine and kept fine, kept always in prime smoking condition.

The new Humidor Pack of moisture-proof Cellophane seals in all the natural factory-freshness—seals it in so tightly that wet weather cannot make Camels damp, nor drought weather make them dry.

When you open your package of Camels, don't remove the Cellophane wrapper. Keep it on until you have smoked the last cigarette. It's put there for your protection.

Do your throat a favor, try Camels for just one day. Once you've compared their cool, smooth enjoyment with the brackish, stale taste of cigarettes packed the old way, leave them—if you can.

FILM ACTORS WAGES SET BY STATE

HOLLYWOOD, Calif.—The state of California has taken control of the employment conditions under which women and child actors work in the movies.

The industrial welfare board has put in effect a set of strict rules that prescribe wages, overtime pay, hours and conditions in the studios where women and children are employed as extras.

A distinction is made with female and child stars, who do not come under these new rules.

Here are some of the new orders: Eight hours make up a day's work, and shall be paid at the scale for extras of $7.50 a day or $65 a week.

Overtime work is on a sliding scale up to time and a half. In an emergency, women but not children can be worked up to 16 hours in one day.

If it takes half an hour for an extra to turn in costume and property to the studio the studio must pay for that time.

Meals must be available and extras have a minimum of half an hour to a maximum of an hour and a half to eat them in mid-shift.

Motion picture work is divided into several classes by the state labor order. Beside ordinary work there are classes designated as "night, wet, dangerous and rough."

The extras must be protected and insured in these forms of toil.

If weather or other causes cancel a "shooting," the studio must advise those "on call" in plenty of time and must pay one-fourth the basic wage and carefare when work is called off.

Extras like trips to far distant locations, for the rule compels the studios to pay them half-time wages and all expenses while traveling.

NEW PACIFIC LINER

A bottle cracked over the bow, a slow slide down greased runways, a dip into the water—and another liner had joined Uncle Sam's Pacific merchant fleet. Here's the scene as the Matson Navigation company's 25,000-ton steamship Mariposa, soon to enter service between San Francisco and Sydney, Australia, was launched at Quincy, Mass., while distinguished government and steamship officials looked on. The $3,500,000 was designed and built to meet the requirements of the Navy Department for use as a naval auxiliary.

Contractor Finds Sacks of Gold on Timbering Job

TONOPAH, Nev. — (UP).—One Nevada contractor now believes in the old saying, "Gold is where you find it."

He took a job for removing old timbers from an abandoned mine, the work proved more difficult than expected and it appeared he was going to lose money on the contract.

Removing a section of lagging from an old drift, two sacks of ore tumbled out, apparently concealed there by a "highgrader" in the boom days. The ore was some of the richest found in the region and the contractor says his contract turned out to be one of the most profitable he ever had.

District Planning Commissioners Elect Santa Anan

MANY ATTEND SESSIONS AT BEACH HOTEL

Clara Cushman, secretary of the Orange county planning commission, was elected chairman of the southern district of the California County Planning Commissioners' association at a meeting of the district organization held yesterday in the Hotel Laguna at Laguna Beach. Mrs. Cushman will serve until the next election, which will be held in March.

Orange, San Diego, Riverside, San Bernardino, Los Angeles and Santa Barbara counties sent a total of 48 representatives to the conference. According to state law, each county in the state must have a planning commission. Dr. Walter H. Bigham, chairman of the Orange county planning commission, presided over the meeting.

Sessions began at 10 a. m. when Dr. Bigham introduced John D. Wright of Santa Barbara, state chairman, who spoke on the purpose of county planning commissions. He declared that the commission was an economic aid to the community and that commissions were not asking for money, but were making plans to save money.

During the morning session reports from all counties were heard and discussions on various phases of planning were held. In the discussions it was brought out that commissions need to collect technical information and that the public should be educated in planning matters. Each delegate from the counties told of how budgets were handled and how funds were distributed.

Young People Of Anaheim Praise Brown Meetings

In a recent letter from the Young People's societies of Anaheim to the young people, the various church organizations of Santa Ana, comes a statement expressing the good which was received in attending the John Brown young peoples' meetings in that city.

The young people of Santa Ana are strongly urged to take advantage of the opportunity to listen to Evangelist Brown's messages. Text of the letter follows:

"We, the young people of the churches of Anaheim, wish to express our happiness that you have the opportunity for the same unity young people's meetings as we had here during the John Brown tabernacle meetings.

"We found great joy as we put our hearts into the singing, and through our fellowship with Mr. and Mrs. Farrar our hearts received the blessing of being drawn closer to Jesus Christ, and closer to the group of Christian young people. We felt the worth wholeness of Christian work, for the messages showed us that people are still being brought to Jesus Christ—and that that should be our main purpose in the Christian life.

"We are glad that you now have the privilege that was ours, and urge that you take advantage of this opportunity which is yours for the next two Sunday evenings.

"In His name we remain, 'Young People's Societies of Anaheim.'"

REALTY BOARD FINDS RENTAL DEMAND GOOD

According to a recent bulletin of the Santa Ana Realty Board, there is more demand than supply for rentals ranging from $25 to $40 per month. The supply of houses for rent at prices under $25 is slightly in excess of demand, but these houses, in most cases, the bulletin says, are either old and lacking in modern conveniences, or are in poor locations.

The rental situation, according to the bulletin, is largely brought about by the lack of new building, which is permitting the demand to catch up with the supply. The lack of building, it is believed, will create a healthy condition as far as rentals are concerned, but the opinion expressed in the bulletin is that a building campaign at this time would be of great benefit to the unemployed as house builders use local labor and buy practically all materials locally.

In regard to real estate sales the bulletin said:

"We find that brokers are having more prospects for houses, but prospects are all looking for bargains and are having difficulty in securing houses for the price they desire to pay. We are convinced that as soon as buyers realize that prices are consistent with value and sellers are not sacrificing much upon the true values, sales will be made. There are a considerable number of lot buyers who are pursuing the same method as the house buyers and are probably meeting with a greater degree of success than the house buyer, but the cheap lots will soon be absorbed and sellers will be able to realize more nearly the value of their lots."

Court Notes

Petition has been filed for the probate of the will of John D. Thomas of the Passmore ranch in Santa Ana canyon, by his widow Mrs. Elizabeth Hoy Thomas, who was named as executrix. The widow was named sole beneficiary of the estate, value of which is listed as not exceeding $4000.

THE "BEAUTY" THAT MIGHT HAVE BEEN!

Nothing is sadder than a girl who just misses being beautiful. Often the reason is simple—improper elimination.

The poisons from constipation often cause pimples, sallow skin, dull eyes—headaches and even serious disease.

But every girl can banish the evils of constipation by eating Kellogg's ALL-BRAN regularly. Its bulk sweeps the system clean.

Two tablespoonfuls daily are a wonderful health prescription. Try it with milk. Add fruits or honey. Delicious when combined with canned peaches. ALL-BRAN is non-fattening.

INCREASE IN STATE FUNDS FOR SCHOOLS

Orange county schools will receive more money this year from the state than ever before, it was learned today. This year the county will receive $506,454 for elementary schools and $180,167 for high schools. For the year 1930-31 elementary schools received $501,633 for elementary schools and $162,993 for high schools, a gain of $21,970 for both divisions.

According to Ray Adkinson, county superintendent of schools, the additional money will not materially help the school situation in Orange county, as there are 347 more students in high school and 177 more in the elementary schools, and the money will be used up in paying the way for the extra students.

In an estimated apportionment made by the state department of education, the elementary, high school and junior college districts in this state will receive a total of $25,889,808.17, a gain of $1,377,608.50 over 1930-31.

The bulk of the apportionment of state funds to the schools is based on average daily attendance records, with $5.89 paid for elementary school pupils and $24.82 for high school students.

FARM GROUP FROM EAST IS COMING

More than 200 farmers and their families from the middle Atlantic states, mostly from Pennsylvania, will visit Orange county August 13 for a tour of the county. It was learned today. The group will visit Los Angeles, San Diego and other cities in Southern California while on the tour.

Special arrangements to welcome the tourists to Orange county have been made by George Raymer, secretary of the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce, and V. D. Johnson, secretary of the Orange Chamber of Commerce, when they arrive. The party will come by train from Los Angeles and will stop in Orange county on the way to San Diego. An opportunity will be given to study agricultural conditions and other factors that make California a desirable place in which to live.

Cars for the tour of Orange county will be provided jointly by the Santa Ana and Orange Chambers of Commerce. The Santiago Orange Growers association packing plant and several orange groves will be visited by the group.

SUTHERLAND GIVES TIPS ON VACATION BABY CARE

Carry the baby in a market basket when you take the family to the beach or the country this summer.

This is the advice of the Orange county health department to mothers who expect to take their babies along on vacation travels, week end trips or even picnics.

"The market basket is more comfortable for the baby than the mother's arms," Dr. K. H. Sutherland, county health officer declared today. "For an automobile a small hammock should be used. The basket should have a handle low enough to hold the baby safely."

"It should be arranged like a bed, with a thin mattress, rubber sheeting, blanket, and, if desired, a sleeping bag. A cotton mosquito netting should be taken along to cover the basket. A young baby can stay in the basket throughout the trip, except when it is time for feeding, bathing, changing clothes, exercise or other care."

Other suggestions given for the journey are:

Plan the trip to avoid delays and give the most privacy and quiet for the baby.

Don't let anything interfere with the baby's regular feeding, elimination, sleep and exercise. Wash his hands and face several times each day. Keep him as cool as possible.

Don't give the baby cakes, candy, bananas or anything else to keep him quiet while traveling. Irregular feeding, together with the fatigue of traveling, are likely to make him ill.

Do not let strangers handle him.

Don't put too many clothes on the baby.

For bottle-fed babies—boil all milk used.

OIL INDUSTRY ASKS HOOVER FOR EMBARGO

The Independent Petroleum association of California has joined with the Independent Petroleum association of Texas and other independent groups representing large oil interests in Oklahoma and other oil-producing states in appealing to President Hoover to aid the oil industry by establishing a temporary embargo on oil importations.

Acting through its president, Alfred L. Marsten of San Francisco, the association has wired the president, pointing out that during the past 12 months 97,000,000 barrels of petroleum products have been imported duty free into this country and thrown upon our domestic market, with the result that domestic production so far this year is 45,000,000 barrels less than for the corresponding period last year, despite the fact that consumption has shown a gain.

Congressman Joe Craft voiced his approval of the Independent Petroleum association's action in a wire to the president, in which he branded oil imports, which can be sold at a profit for 30 cents per barrel, as competition which the American producer cannot meet. He urged an embargo as the only remedy action possible at this time.

The Independent Petroleum association of California, with a membership of over 1000 producers, refiners, royalty owners and oil workers throughout the state, sent a delegation to Washington during the last session of congress in the hope of securing a tariff at that time, and strongly urged the passage of the Capper-Garber bill, which called for a limited embargo to be placed on petroleum imports. The bill was recommended favorably by the senate committee on commerce and received the vigorous support of Senator Hiram Johnson, chairman of that committee. During the various stages through which this bill passed, it created one of the outstanding topics of interest in the 1931 session of congress, finally being left on file, due to the short session.

Synod Delegates' Resolutions Hit Nevada Conditions

Delegates to the Presbyterian Synod of California and Nevada closed their convention at Sacramento this week at which the Rev. O. Scott McFarland, pastor of the First Presbyterian church and moderator of the Los Angeles Presbytery, and Harry Lewis, were local representatives. The convention adopted a series of resolutions aimed at what was termed "legalized vice" conditions in Nevada.

The resolutions, adopted after heated argument, were: That the synod express "extreme embarrassment and hot indignation at the legalized vice and disgraceful divorce laws of Nevada."

That the synod condemn as un-American and traitors to the best moral interests of Nevada and the nation, those responsible for moral conditions in Nevada.

Federal prohibition enforcement officers were commended for attempting to enforce the dry law, and sympathy was extended to fellow Christians who are compelled to labor to promote morality in Nevada, "under the unhappy handicap which the moral breakdown of that state presents."

The synod selected San Diego for next year's convention.

CO-OPERATIVES IN CALIFORNIA LEADING NATION

California was declared to have a definite leadership in the agricultural problems of the nation by Secretary of Agriculture Arthur M. Hyde this week at an informal luncheon meeting in Los Angeles with directors of the State Chamber of Commerce and other leading business men and agriculturalists of the state.

The meeting was called, it was stated, to bring about a closer understanding of the national problems and to give the secretary first-hand information relative to California's agricultural situation.

Secretary Hyde, in addressing the group, said in part:

"California's leadership in organizing agriculture is a light-house in co-operative effort for the nation as a whole. As agriculture has become an industry, it must apply industrial methods. California's efforts in that direction throw considerably light on how the national question must be answered. Unfortunately, some of the economic problems of agriculture are closely woven with political problems."

In explaining the functions of the farm board, Secretary Hyde emphasized particularly that it did not assume to put government into business, that it merely attempted to give the producers an opportunity to develop the necessary machinery for conducting their business on tried and known business methods. The machinery must take care, he said, not only of production but checks on over-production and means and ways of creating markets.

Santa Ana President Of Newport Ebells Entertains

Yesterday afternoon's enjoyable bridge party given by Newport Beach Ebells club women in their clubhouse was preceded by a luncheon of much distinction, at which the president, Mrs. Mary B. Block, 118 South Van Ness avenue, Santa Ana, was a charming hostess.

This hospitality found a cool and delightful setting in the Newport Harbor Yacht club, where covers were laid at a flower-adorned table for Mrs. Block, the hostess, Mrs. R. D. Flaherty and Mrs. Harold E. Wahlberg, Santa Ana; Mrs. W. W. Crocker, and Mrs. Andrew Wilson, Newport; Mrs. Mary Hoagland, Riverside; Mrs. E. F. Talbot, Perris; Mrs. Albert Launer, Fullerton; Mrs. Wallace Rodecker, Long Beach, and Mrs. Herndon J. Norris, Los Angeles.

Following their leisurely enjoyment of the delectable luncheon menu, hostess and guests joined the others assembled in the Ebells clubhouse, where the series of afternoon bridges has assumed popularity among clubwomen and summer visitors at the beach resort.

Both auction and contract bridge were played, and first prize in auction went to Mrs. William Phillips of Los Angeles, while one of Mrs. Block's luncheon guests, Mrs. Rodecker of Long Beach, was awarded second prize. First prize in contract was secured by Mrs. G. M. Grundy of Newport Beach.

Deep Red Roses Add Charm to Party Appointments

Members of the S. O. A. club were entertained at 1 o'clock luncheon Wednesday when they were guests of Mrs. R. L. Ballard of North Main street. Clusters of rich red roses were used in the decorations, with striking effect.

The afternoon was spent at bridge, with prizes for first and second honors going to Mrs. Leland Eubank and Mrs. Daisy McGee. Mrs. William Batt received the consolation award.

Those present other than the hostess were Mrs. S. A. Sissons, Mrs. B. H. Bauman, Anaheim; Mrs. William Batt, Mrs. George Merrill, Orange; Mrs. Daisy McGee, Mrs. Leland Eubank and Mrs. Dan H. Thompson, Santa Ana.

A. D. Club Members Hold Meeting in Los Angeles

For their second meeting of the month members of the A. D. club met in Los Angeles Wednesday evening in the home of Mrs. Floyd L. Lyman, 3310 West Thirtieth street, with Mrs. Noble McBride as co-hostess with Mrs. Lyman.

Yellow was the dominant color of the evening and when refreshments were served on the card tables slender yellow tapers made pretty centerpieces as they cast their soft light on the colored glass.

Mrs. George Harris scored high during the ensuing hours of bridge and Mrs. Lewis Rorman was second high, while Mrs. W. Barry Davis was low.

Members present were Mesdames Lewis Rorman, W. Barry Davis, Floyd Lyman, George Harris, Noble McBride and Dean Campbell.

Daughters Entertain As Compliment to Their Mother

In observance of the birthday anniversary of Mrs. Maude Swarthout of 202 Orange avenue was a pleasant party given Wednesday afternoon by her daughters, Mrs. Oscar Carothers, 224 Kilson Drive, and Mrs. Chester Lander of Woodstock, S. D., who is spending several weeks with relatives here. The affair, which was staged in the home of Mrs. Carothers, was a complete surprise to the honoree, who, when she arrived with Mrs. Lander for a quiet afternoon of sewing, found the living room filled with a group of friends.

A profusion of asters in pastel colors provided floral decorations. The bridge session proved especially successful for Mrs. Bryan Ruddick, Mrs. Willard Swarthout and Mrs. James Johnndrew, who received pretty plants for holding first and second high and low scores. Many lovely birthday gifts were presented to Mrs. Swarthout by her friends and relatives.

Included in the delicious two-course refreshment menu which was served at the card tables was a pretty white birthday cake, bearing pink candles arranged in the form of a question mark.

Taking part in the happy occasion with Mrs. Swarthout and her two daughters were Mrs. Mary Hoffman, mother of the honoree; Mrs. Roy V. Ivins, Mrs. Joe Steele, Mrs. Ida Carey, Mrs. James Johnndrew, Mrs. Frank Hoffman, Mrs. Ann Hoffman, Mrs. Paul Carnahan, Mrs. Bryan Ruddick, Mrs. Allie Cain, Mrs. Mary Finch, Mrs. Esther Gardner and Mrs. Willard Swarthout.

The afternoon was spent at bridge, with prizes for first and second honors going to Mrs. Leland Eubank and Mrs. Daisy McGee. Mrs. William Batt received the consolation award.

Those present other than the hostess were Mrs. S. A. Sissons, Mrs. B. H. Bauman, Anaheim; Mrs. William Batt, Mrs. George Merrill, Orange; Mrs. Daisy McGee, Mrs. Leland Eubank and Mrs. Dan H. Thompson, Santa Ana.

Torosa Rebekah Staff Is Installed With Ceremonial

The annual ceremonial of installing new officers for Torosa Rebekah lodge was made very beautiful indeed Wednesday night in Odd Fellows hall and was witnessed by a large crowd of members and their friends, since the installation was made an open one.

The big hall was brilliant with the wealth of flowers and the installing staff in pastel-colored chiffons, with the new officers in hand-made white satin gowns, made an unforgettable picture. Mrs. Jennie May Annan of Fullerton, district deputy president, with Mrs. Lois Cooper as marshal and the degree staff of the Fullerton Rebekah lodge, conducted the ceremonies.

Mrs. Annan wore a graceful gown of French blue chiffon, while Mrs. Cooper was in shell pink.

Mrs. Claude E. Brown, concluding a year in the chair of noble grand, was advanced to the post of junior vice grand, as Mrs. Grace Moraville was installed as the new noble grand. Mrs. Brown has had an unusually pleasant year in office and has succeeded in making it a valuable and interesting year for the members.

During the course of the ceremony she was commended for her faithfulness in fulfilling the duties of her office and was presented the past noble grand's pin by Mrs. Ada Spencer.

Officers installed with Mrs. Moraville were Mrs. Eleanor Pickel, vice grand; Mrs. Ida Perkins, recording secretary; Mrs. Blanche Chandler, financial secretary; Mrs. Emma Cochems, treasurer; Mrs. Martha Van Dewalker, warden; Mrs. Minnie L. Tucker, conductor; Mrs. Fannie Lacy, chaplain; Mrs. Ora Summers, R. S. N. G.; Mrs. Carrie Topie, L. S. N. G.; Mrs. Edna Kinsella, R. S. V. G.; Mrs. Laura Keemann, L. S. V. G.; Mrs. Laura Tramel, inside guardian; Mrs. Rosa Bauer, outside guardian; Mrs. Maude Swarthout, right altar supporter; Mrs. Leola Allen, left altar supporter; Mrs. Adeline Cochems, Harrell, musician; Herbert Allen, drum major.

The interval following formal installation seemed more like the Christmas season than a mid-summer affair, there were so many and such lovely gifts presented various officers. It was at this time that Mrs. Brown was presented her past noble grand's pin, in addition to many other pretty things in recognition of her value as leader.

The remainder of the evening was given over to sociability and refreshments were served in the banquet hall, where floral decorations rivaled in beauty those in the chapter room. Mrs. Leola Allen was chairman of the decorating committee and Mrs. Lucille Rathbone and her committee arranged for the appetizing refreshments.

The newly installed officers were notified of their first business and practice meeting, to be held next Monday evening at 7:30 o'clock in I. O. O. F. hall.

Daughters Entertain As Compliment to Their Mother

In observance of the birthday anniversary of Mrs. Maude Swarthout of 202 Orange avenue was a pleasant party given Wednesday afternoon by her daughters, Mrs. Oscar Carothers, 224 Kilson Drive, and Mrs. Chester Lander of Woodstock, S. D., who is spending several weeks with relatives here. The affair, which was staged in the home of Mrs. Carothers, was a complete surprise to the honoree, who, when she arrived with Mrs. Lander for a quiet afternoon of sewing, found the living room filled with a group of friends.

A profusion of asters in pastel colors provided floral decorations. The bridge session proved especially successful for Mrs. Bryan Ruddick, Mrs. Willard Swarthout and Mrs. James Johnndrew, who received pretty plants for holding first and second high and low scores. Many lovely birthday gifts were presented to Mrs. Swarthout by her friends and relatives.

Included in the delicious two-course refreshment menu which was served at the card tables was a pretty white birthday cake, bearing pink candles arranged in the form of a question mark.

Taking part in the happy occasion with Mrs. Swarthout and her two daughters were Mrs. Mary Hoffman, mother of the honoree; Mrs. Roy V. Ivins, Mrs. Joe Steele, Mrs. Ida Carey, Mrs. James Johnndrew, Mrs. Frank Hoffman, Mrs. Ann Hoffman, Mrs. Paul Carnahan, Mrs. Bryan Ruddick, Mrs. Allie Cain, Mrs. Mary Finch, Mrs. Esther Gardner and Mrs. Willard Swarthout.

The afternoon was spent at bridge, with prizes for first and second honors going to Mrs. Leland Eubank and Mrs. Daisy McGee. Mrs. William Batt received the consolation award.

Those present other than the hostess were Mrs. S. A. Sissons, Mrs. B. H. Bauman, Anaheim; Mrs. William Batt, Mrs. George Merrill, Orange; Mrs. Daisy McGee, Mrs. Leland Eubank and Mrs. Dan H. Thompson, Santa Ana.

Legion Auxiliary Quilt To Be Displayed in Down-town Store

The famous "Friendship quilt" of the American Legion auxiliary, completion of which has been a labor of love on the part of the Legion Auxiliary Mothers' club, at last has been finished, after a year in the process of making, and is to be given prominence in the windows of the S. Hill and Son hardware store at 213 East Fourth street, according to announcement made today by Mrs. Dean Collier, auxiliary president.

The idea of the quilt originated with Gretchen Kellors, who started it almost a year ago. Anyone interested was privileged to purchase one of the small pieces, which was then worked with the name of the purchaser. Twelve of these autographed pieces formed one block of the quilt. When the required number of blocks had been stitched with the names and set together by members of the Mothers' club, the latter completed their handwork with the tiny stitches of the hand-quilting.

After the quilt has been on display long enough to be seen by everyone interested, it will go to the fortunate purchaser on September 17, according to Mrs. Collier. The sale of the autograph pieces has netted the auxiliary over $88.

Put the beef and sausage meat into a mixing bowl, add the can of beans and the juice to the meat, and mix with a knife and fork. When the sauteed vegeta- bles are ready add them, bread crumbs also, and use the milk and two-beaten eggs to mix the loaf to a soft mass. Season quite gen- erously with parsley, salt and pepper, and continue mixing, beat- ing with a fork, or using the hand to mix.

Bake the loaf in a small deep bread tin, or in a glass table cas- serole, from which it can be serv- ed without turning out on a plat- ter—often a disastrous proceeding with these soft meatloaf mixtures. When cold the texture is firm yet very tender and delicate. The clams add a pliant flavor never before met with in a meat loaf.

Before serving the loaf tip the casserole to one side and skim out all the fat. This leaves a meat dish that is strictly a pro- tein and not at all harmful for those who must avoid fats in meat.

The calories total some 2800. The loaf will serve six and leave some over.

The Canning Leaflet is offered this week free of charge. If a stamped, self-addressed envelope is sent in for mailing it back to you, Easy methods of steam canning are given, as well as other canning information.

Off Cucumber Pickles will be the recipe for tomorrow. This is an easy and splendid method of making these pickles.

"ARIZONA" AT WEST COAST STARTS TODAY

The story starts with a whizz of a football game between the Army and Navy. John Wayne, a football player himself, plays the role of Bob Denton, the West Point fullback.

After the "big" game, Evelyn, played by Miss La Plante, waits for her sweetheart, Bob (John Wayne), but is surprised when he tells her that he wants to break off with her. She is hurt when he refuses to introduce her to his Colonel.

Later she meets the colonel and marries him. From that time to the end of the picture the audi- ence is given one surprise after another, with the picture ending in the only way that it could in view of the circumstances. The play is well done throughout.

NEWS AND NOTES

"So This Is College" will be the picture shown to members of the Santa Ana Mickey Mouse Club at the club's weekly meeting at the Fox West Coast theater tomorrow at 1 o'clock, it was announced to- day.

The film, which stars Robert Montgomery, is one of the fastest moving college pictures that was made last year and abounds in clean, wholesome comedy, which should appeal particularly to the children.

Aside from the film, the usual Mickey Mouse entertainment fea- tures will be had, including games on the stage and contests. Prizes will be awarded the members en- tering contests.

"HONEYMOON LANE" OPENS AT BROADWAY

A boy and girl in love and how little the troubles of the world worry them, seems to be the best way to tell the kind of a story seen in the picture "Honeymoon Lane," now showing at the Fox Broadway theater.

Opening to large crowds last night, the picture proved to be fast, entertaining and delightful through- out. It stars Eddie Dowling, who was the playwright of "Sally, Irene and Mary," the comedian and tra- gedian in "The Rainbow Man" and the song plugger in "Sleepy Valley."

Dowling sings one song in "Honeymoon Lane," "The Little White House."

Romance, and good comedy mingled with some drama mark the pic- ture, the comedy being a reversal of things seen in pictures here recently. Gangsters are made the goats instead of the public and crooks become innocent little chil- dren in the picture.

June Collyer is the girl in the pic- ture, and others in the cast include Noah Beery, Mary Carr, Raymond Hatton and Ray Dooley.

THE WEEKLY PANTRY SHELF

WESTMINSTER

WESTMINSTER, July 24.—Professor Hollis Fitz, local scoutmaster, and a group of five scouts, including Bud Hare, Joe Hosack, Nelson Morgan, Bud Parr and Donald Wardlow, arrived in Westminster Saturday, following a delightful outing spent at Klamath river.

P. A. North, representative of the California Anti-Saloon league, was the speaker in the Westminster Presbyterian church Sunday morning. Statistics proving conclusively the improvement in conditions during the years since saloons were voted out and comparisons with conditions in other countries where prohibition is not law were given incidents of a trip which Mr. North took into Canada to observe conditions there proved of interest.

A vocal solo given by Mrs. Anna Campbell, local choir leader, was an appreciated feature of the morning church service.

A committee to arrange for Westminster night at the John Brown evangelistic meetings was appointed Sunday morning. Ed L. Hensley being made chairman, Mrs. D. D. Campbell to advertise for the general church, Mrs. M. J. P. Hell for the junior department and Mrs. Harry Penhall for the beginner's department.

Mrs. T. E. Turpin took a group of her junior Christian Endeavor members to Sunday evening's services at the meeting, those going including Virginia Turpin, Bill Turpin, Virginia Roberts, Rose Basse, Ellen Edward. Of the high school group those attending were Charles Anderson, Bud Hare, Miss Mary Lou Hare, Joe Hosack, Bob Hosack, while other local people attending were Mr. and Mrs. Orill Hare, Mr. and Mrs. W. B. McCoy and family, Ruby Lewis and Francis King.

Announcement is made that the Rev. Kenneth Danskin, director of religious education of the First Methodist church in Long Beach, will occupy the local Presbyterian pulpit at next Sunday morning's 11 o'clock service, which will be the only service of the day, as evening services have been dismissed for the time of the John Brown meetings.

Mrs. Marian Morris, accompanied by three friends from Los Angeles, Betty Wells, George Davidson and Lynnel Harris, were dinner guests Sunday of Miss Morris' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Morris, also visiting Miss Morris' sister, Mrs. Nellie Groeschner, who is convalescing satisfactorily at St. Joseph's hospital, following a serious operation and long illness.

Mrs. Minnie Trout, the Misses Annie and Della Brooks and their house guests, Mrs. Sally Stewart of Long Beach and Billy and Jackie Brooks, nieces from San Gabriel, were joined Sunday by another sister, Mrs. Nora Wilkison and son and two daughters, and Mr. and Mrs. Wilkison, Jr., of Anaheim.

Mr. and Mrs. Ben Best were hosts at a dance at their home Saturday evening at which 42 guests were entertained, music for the dance being furnished by a three-piece orchestra from Long Beach.

The party was given in observance of the birthday anniversaries of the hostess and a neighbor, Mrs. Frank Van Uden, and the refreshment hour brought out clever reminders of the event in the form of small individual cakes for each guest, each bearing one candle. Sandwiches and coffee completed the refreshment menu.

A number of lovely bouquets were presented the honor guests by the friends present. The company included mostly friends from Long Beach and San Pedro, the local persons attending including Mr. and Mrs. Van Uden, Mr. and Mrs. James Morgan, Mr. and Mrs. George Finley, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Morris, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Montgomery, and the hosts, Mr. and Mrs. Best.

Miss Bertha Dickey and Marian Glass of Corona, sister and niece of Mrs. Wells McCoy, came Saturday to spend a week in the home of Mr. and Mrs. McCoy.

Floyd Wardlow, brother of Mrs. Ray Burns, who has been spending a week as a guest of Mr. and Mrs. Burns, has returned to his home at Talbert.

Mrs. J. E. Pleasants, who is writing a history of portions of Orange county for the book being put out by the Orange County Historical society, is now working on early history of Westminster and has been securing photographs of the oldest landmarks possible for this section of the book. A photograph of the first church, first school, first house, the old sorghum mill and old creamery, which constituted the first buildings, have been secured, and if anyone has a photograph of the old Harris hall, where all important early day colony affairs were held, the loan of it would be appreciated, as would any others of historical interest.

New people, Mr. and Mrs. Walch, have brought property south of town and are now located here.

Mrs. Nell Brooks, of San Gabriel, visiting Tuesday with her sisters-in-law, Mrs. Minnie Trout, Miss Annie Brooks and Miss Della Brooks and with her daughters, Billy and Jackie Brooks, who are spending the summer with their aunts.

Ray Finley has moved Mrs. Finley's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Baker, who have been residing in Santa Ana since leaving Westminster, to their ranch near San Diego. Miss Maxine Wells entertained a friend as her guest over the weekend.

BETTER CHICKEN

and that's no reflection on your cooking either!

There are two reasons why Hormel Flavor-Salted Chicken is better than that which you buy and cook yourself.

Each bird is selected with infinite care—a plump tender milk-fed chicken—GOVERNMENT CERTIFIED.

The Flavor-Salted process of cooking holds within the most delicious flavor and natural juices which are lost in the ordinary method of cooking.

Order a Hormel Flavor-Salted Chicken today. There are two sizes—whole chicken and half chicken. Serve it cold—it's meltingly tender and good. Or fry in five minutes, broil or roast in twenty.

We think you'll agree that it's even better than chicken which you cook yourself—because it's better chicken.

BEACH PARTY PLANNED FOR ORANGE GROUP

ORANGE, July 24.—Swimming parties at the beach for school children attending the summer playgrounds probably will be repeated next week, Stewart L. White, supervisor of the four playgrounds, stated yesterday. Great interest has been evinced in swimming by those who have attended the parties this week. The children were divided into groups and taken to the beach in buses.

At the first party 40 boys were in attendance and of this number but eight could swim. At the second party 44 girls were present, 20 of whom were able to swim, and at the third, 56 boys were in attendance and of these 18 were able to swim. All are being taught to float.

The parties are staged on the shore of Newport bay, and games are enjoyed between lessons in swimming.

The attendance at the playgrounds the past week has averaged 150. This is considered a good average by directors, as many families are out of town on vacation trips.

HOW ABOUT IT?

How about the orange grove you've wanted? Have a pretty little five out by Tustin to exchange for something smaller, and again, a full-bearing five to dispose of about the same way. Another good proposition is 16 acres, about half bearing, for apartment, court or income. That's that, but it's only a small part of our listings, meaning that we have more.

ANNIVERSARY OF THE PURE FOOD LAW

The 6th of June marked the 25th anniversary of the signing of the Pure Food Law by President Roosevelt. After a hard fought battle against the makers of adulterated foods, the advocates of pure food finally convinced a reluctant congress to pass the bill.

Until the passage of that law one never knew what he was buying. All sorts of spurious and adulterated products were thrown upon the market, and labeled pure. It gave the opportunity to every unprincipled individual and concern to filch the public. The honest manufacturers were almost forced to meet this unscrupulous competition or go out of business. The public health was endangered by dangerous concoctions. The host of unscrupulous manufacturers were powerful enough to purchase immunity from the press by generous advertising contributions to newspaper columns.

Gradually, however, reputable newspapers began to investigate advertised products for themselves, and refusal longer to carry advertisements of adulterated products branded the questionable products.

The public should everlastingly be grateful to Dr. Wiley as the one outstanding leader who withstood opposition and inspired the fight for pure foods.

The public was aroused through his leadership in the Department of Agriculture in Washington. The co-operation of Women's clubs against impure and adulterated products followed. The drastic law, now for 25 years on the Statute Book of the nation, was the result.

The people of today little realize what this law has meant to them. They can be assured that the label no longer lies. If a package or a jar is labelled "pure", they know it is pure. If it is a mixture, the ingredients are distinctly printed on the label. We can hardly realize what a long fight it was before this law became the law of the land. We wonder, as we think of it, that there could have been any opposition to it. Failure to enact the law over a period of years through successive congresses indicates the power of vested interests which are willing to exploit the public for selfish ends. That day is past, and we can be secure that what we are eating is just what it pretends to be.

CO-EDUCATION OR NOT

A mother was recently reported to have said that her experience in a co-educational college had been so unfortunate that she would never send her daughter to such a school. Her unfortunate experience was that she fell in love with a young man of her class and frittered away all her time, so that she never got out of her college course what she should have gotten.

Of course, such things are possible. But for a young woman of that type, the monastic school would have temptations of a different sort. There is much to be said for separate schools; but there is quite as much to be said for co-education. Co-education is distinctively American in its origin. In the early years when the country was founded the Continental models were continued. With the drift of population westward, no distinction was made of sex in the higher institutions of learning. Women were given the same privileges as men. In this matter Oberlin college in Ohio was the pioneer, and the example thus set was adopted by all the higher institutions founded in that region continuing to the Pacific Coast.

There is much to be said for mingling the sexes in education at a time when the mating instinct is strongest. What was a handicap in the case of the mother whose remark gives the content of this editorial, in thousands of other cases the future happiness of married couples has been assured by a common educational experience at that crucial period in their lives.

THE DEPRESSION OF 1873 AND 1929

The New Republic of July 8 contains an interesting article by Prof. Eitman of Albion college comparing the depression of 1873 and the depression through which we are passing now. Those desiring to be informed would do well to read that article.

There is a striking similarity between these two depressions, so striking indeed as to reveal the real causes for such severe shocks to the economic system. Both depressions came after a war of singular destructiveness, the first the Civil War, the second the World War. Both wars were followed by a short period of prosperity, succeeded by an economic collapse of short duration, which in turn was followed by a rising tide of prosperity, only to be succeeded by an economic collapse of striking proportions. The parallel between the events leading to the collapse of 1873 and 1929 are exactly alike, so much so that we are almost able to see what the future has for us after the passing of the present depression.

Both depressions grew up out of the wars which they followed, and are directly attributable to those wars according to Prof. Eitman. They are apparently inevitable following such a calamity. How anyone can give the slightest encouragement to anything—a selfish jingoism or a narrow patriotism—which brings about such social shocks with all their consequent social and political dangers is beyond the conception of any thinking person. It is a crime against humanity for any man or group of men to keep this war spirit alive. We have always been great admirers of Theodore Roosevelt, but his "speak softly and carry a big stick" sentiment was the least creditable to his truly great personality. They who follow him in that sphere follow him in the least worthy of those high sentiments which have made his personality an abiding inspiration to the future generations of Americans.

Let us forget as the years carry us farther and farther away from the Great War which demoralized Europe, and the economic effects of which are still with us, and will continue to be with us yet for years to come, we should keep the public sentiment sensitive on this whole question of the war spirit. It is bad through and through. Its woes fall heavily upon those who are least able and deserving to bear them. Let us have done with it.

PENALIZING THE NON-VOTER

The Chamber of Deputies in France is considering a bill fixing a penalty upon the man who refuses to vote. The charge is made that all the venal and selfish voters exercise their privilege, while the conservative voter who has everything at stake stays at home.

This is by no means an unfamiliar complaint. It has been heard in this country many times. It is a matter to be deplored. Movements have been inaugurated from time to time in various states to penalize the non-voter, but thus far no law covering such an offense has been enacted.

To our mind this has been wise. Why should a man who has no interest, be compelled to express his opinion on a matter in which he is not interested? We have found ourselves many times in the dilemma where there was no one on the ticket for whom we cared to vote or could vote. To compel a man under such circumstances to vote is to make the ballot a farce. The only remedy for the non-voting habit is to educate the voter to the importance of his vote, or to present to the voter such an array of candidates that he will be interested to vote. The politically minded will never miss the chance to vote. No other is capable of casting an intelligent vote. The business of those who deplore the non-voting habit is to cultivate this political mindedness. In these days when party lines are easily crossed by thousands of voters in every city and state, all that is needed is candidates who sense the public pulse. They will get out the voters, just as those who adhere to political machines get out their henchmen.

Tracking the Golf Ball to Its Lair

Christian Science Monitor

Ever since the Scots searched the heather for the first lost golf ball, the issue of strayed balls has been of great concern to the golf-playing public. And when one takes into consideration the average overhead of a season on the golf course the question of lost balls is an economic issue of no mean proportions to many persons. The majority of golfers like to make their golf balls go as far as possible, whatever interpretation they may give to the statement.

Conservation of the golf ball has not become the subject of a national institute, nor a world congress, although there are thousands of players who are quite ready to answer any call that may have as its objective a proposed per capita annual saving of a peck or two of these pellets. Golf balls have not acquired a habit of coming out in the open and giving themselves up when a misdirected stroke has sent them into hiding. Neither have experts developed any instrument by which stray golf balls may be automatically harvested at the end of each 18 holes.

Golf balls of the type and quality which the average ambitious golfer needs in order "properly" to do justice to my stroke, don't you know, cannot be purchased for a dollar a bushel. The loss of only one represents a fairly good table d'hôte dinner to a number of players. And so the great golfing public will be delighted to know that the runaway golf ball finally has met its match. All the golfer has to do is to raise a flock of white butterflies. A California golf player made the discovery that by sousing his golf balls in a certain scented solution he can make the white butterflies chase all over the field after them. And so he hunts no more for lost golf balls. He sits on a convenient knoll and lets the butterflies do it. Will the clubhouse professional not add white butterflies to his line of golf accessories for sale?

Bungalows for Athletes

New York Times

Los Angeles is a city of marvelously rapid growth. She plans to top her own record by building before 1932 a complete bungalow village to house the 3,000 visiting athletes who will participate in the Olympic games. The mushroom town will be constructed in a "rural section" within the voluminous boundaries of Los Angeles, a half hour from the center of the city (as the motorist files) and ten minutes from the Olympic park. The plans promise that the city will live up to her offer to provide the most comfortable quarters ever furnished to so large a group of athletes. Each bungalow will house four men. It will be in California style, and contain two bedrooms, with running water and a single bathroom. There will be separate dining pavilions for each national group, so that the chef may furnish them their accustomed fare.

A table for the bedside of every athlete will offer a typical California touch. It will bear a plaque stating that the table is made from giant redwood trees 2,000 years old—the "only living thing which was extant when the Olympic games started in ancient Greece."

To return to the mushroom metaphor, the village will disappear as soon as the games are over. The director of the project plans to sell the bungalows for beach cottages. In the famous California climate their expectancy of life should equal that of the average seaside cabin. By selling bungalows, beds and other furnishings, the canny director calculates that the comfortable colony for visitors will very nearly pay for itself shortly after the 1932 games are over.

Don't Know Where We're Going, but We're on Our Way!

More Truth Than Poetry

By James J. Montague

THE DAWN OF HOPE

I never in boyhood, was tempted
To travel the far-stretching girth
Of this curious, queer and swift rotating sphere—
I refer to the planet called earth.
Moreover my yearly vacations were always lamentably short.

So I had to repair, for my whiff of fresh air,
To the handiest summer resort,
And feel able to boast if I sunbathed my back
And lived on hot dogs for the space of a week.

I frequently dreamed of the Indies,
And the cherry-clad hills of Japan,
I thought quite a lot of the singular spot
Which geographers call Turkestan.
I sighed for a sight of Sahara
And the swell Moorish castles in Spain
Of which I got gleams in occasional dreams,
But my dreams, as they all are, were vain.

For I never could hope on these wonders to gaze
And to drink their delights in the space of eight days.

But now that a couple of flyers
Have gone forth on the world-girdling track
And nine days from their start from a populous mart
Have girdled the orb and got back,
I am tempted to tackle the journey
To sail clear around the old sphere
And to come safely home o'er the billowing foam
In the time I get off every year.

And all that deters me from making the dash
Is the fact that it needs quite a large wad of cash.

DON'T BANK ON IT
There is to be a war to exterminate mosquitoes. We still can remember that there was also a war to end war.

TYPOGRAPHICAL ERROR
We read the other day that Tammany would play a leading part in the next national convention. What was probably meant, was misleading.

EXPLANATION
Detective novels, of course, are fiction. That is why the detectives in them always catch the crooks.

"This Is The Place"

By WILLIAM TRUFANT FOSTER and WADDILL CATCHINGS

Today the State of Utah celebrates the anniversary of the coming of Brigham Young and the 147 survivors of his band of Mormons, on July 24, 1847.

On that July morning, the great Salt Lake valley looked about as fertile as the Sahara. It was forbidding enough to discourage a saint. But not Brigham Young! When they lifted him on his sick bed, so that he could survey the barren valley, he exclaimed, "This is the place!"

Whereupon, like Nehemiah of old, he began to build the city of his dreams. And to the scoffers, he spoke as the Prophet had spoken: "The city is large and great, though the people are few, and the houses are not yet builded."

Before the first day's sun had set, Brigham Young had planted corn. Before there was any need of streets, he had laid them out ten miles long, and wide enough for all the automobiles that were to be hunting for parking space seventy years later. Far away in the desert, he laid out 54th street. "This," he said, "will some day be the center of the City!" As well it may be!

Then he and his followers proceeded to fulfill the Scriptures. They made the desert to bloom as the rose. Incidentally, they rubbed their Aladdin's lamp, and took out of the desert a billion dollars' worth of precious metals.

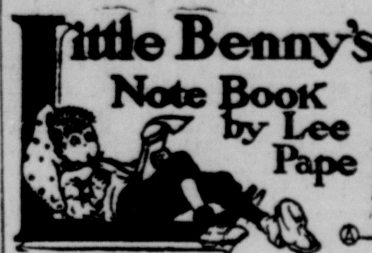

Yet, to this day, most of us know nothing about the Mormons except that they had many wives. It is a pity we cannot think of their many virtues. We should be the gainers, if we always thought of them as the men who prospered by planning to prosper, men who achieved the impossible by refusing to believe that anything was impossible.

Would such men have been frightened by the specter of a business depression? No more than by the shadow of a jack-rabbit.

If, by any chance, you ever find a city with men like that, it will be safe to exclaim, "This is the place!"

And bet your last dollar on it.

Pop was making his new cigar lighter worse by trying to fix it, and ma sed, Willyum, I'm sure little Willie is going to be a literary man.

Meaning my sister Gladness baby, and pop sed, Well, if he's no worse than Shakespeare it won't be so bad.

I know if he turns out to be a writer he'll be among the foremost of the best, because everything he does he does well, you should see him put on his little shoes all by himself, ma sed, I never saw a more ambitious child.

He could hardly crawl before he was straining every little nerve and sinew to wawk, and now that he can wawk like a trained pedestrian he's not satisfied unless he's climbing up on a chair.

The first thing he did this afternoon when Gladness brought him around here, and the first thing I knew there he was, standing on the seat of your swivel chair and making marks on a sheet of paper with your pen and ink, she sed.

The little devil, ha, ha, pop sed, and ma sed, That's what gave me the idea that he may have urgent feelings towards authorship. Of course the marks he was making were only aimless lines of a zigzag nature, but the expression on his little face was as definite as it could be, in fact I'm sure he was trying to express some inexpressible little idea.

In fact I hated to take the paper away, but I had to when I realized he was marking on a half finished letter that you had left on your desk, she sed.

For Peet sake that's an important letter, I was an hour composing that much of it, pop sed. Ill haff to copy it off again, he sed, and ma sed, Im afraid you'll haff to do more than that, because Willie made so many blots on it that it's practically all one vast blot now, so you'll haff to recompose it, but I know you wont mind contributing something to the beginnings of your grandsons literary career.

Id like to contribute a slap to the most unletterary portion of his anatomy that I can think of, pop sed.

Not meaning his hand.

Thoughts On Modern Life

By GLENN FRANK

FLAG POLE SITTER-STATESMAN

An era of abounding prosperity can manage to get along with a sedentary, not to say sedative, statesmanship.

It may not be the best kind of statesmanship even for times of prosperity, but when things are swinging along with a pleasing rhythm and radiance we are quite satisfied with a leadership that confines its activity to affixing seals to official documents and locking up at night.

An era of political distraction and economic disruption calls for a different sort of statesmanship. It has been sagely said that to sit at the helm and keep watch, seeing nothing until some calamity overtakes us is not leadership. There is a kind of political leadership that is strangely suggestive of the flag pole sitter.

A leadership of waiting and watching.

To change the figure and still cling to the same problem, there are two kinds of statesmanship or, more accurately, two kinds of politics, viz:

(1)—Post-mortem politics.

(2)—Prophectic politics.

Post-mortem politics conducts a campaign, such as we shall enter in 1932, almost exclusively in terms of deriding, on the one hand, and defending, on the other the record of the leadership that has been in power.

So much energy is spent in the post-mortem examination that none is left for realistic wrestling with the problem of what is to be done in the months immediately ahead.

Prophectic politics faces the future. Its leadership is not concerned with post-mortem investigation save as it results in prophetic insight. Its leadership will spend most of its time advancing and explaining definite points of view and specific policies it proposes as necessary for the future.

No campaign can be conducted or should be conducted without an honest and accurate assessment of the quality of leadership the group in power has brought to its task, but it will be tragic if, with the challenging economic issues before us, the 1932 campaign degenerates into a post-mortem. We hunger for a prophetic politics!

OUR CHILDREN

By ANGELO PATRI

MOTHER PROMISED

Little Helen was staying with grandmother for week-end because mother had to go away for that brief time. Monday morning the sky was overcast and the rain was coming down in long silver streaks that meant a prolonged and dreary wetness.

Grandmother peered through the streaming window panes. "I am afraid that mother will not be able to come today, Helen."

"Oh yes, she will; she promised." "But she did not know it would be raining like this."

"No, but that won't matter; she promised."

"Surely you wouldn't want mother to come out and get all wet. You'd rather she would stay home and keep dry until the sun comes out."

"No. She won't mind it. She won't get wet. She will be in the cars and she has rubbers and everything. Besides, I know she will come because she promised."

Grandmother's heart sank. In this downpour? Suppose Helen's mother could not come. What was to be done with this child whose faith was firmly founded upon "mother promised."

There was a sound of wheels and a brake screamed. "That's mother. She had to take a taxi 'cause it rained so. Hurry, Gran, and open the door. It's mother, I know!"

"Think I wasn't coming?" asked Mother.

"Oh no, I knew you were coming, 'cause you promised. Gran thought maybe you couldn't 'cause it rained but I knew you would come 'cause you always keep a promise."

Some children are not so happy as to be able to rest on the strength of a grown-up's promise. They have known what it meant to wait for a promised arrival, for a treat, and to meet disappointment. There is more in this keeping a promise to children than the moralities, important as they are. There is the tonic feeling of security that stimulates the mental health of the child. A sense of security, that feeling of sureness that is born in the child who is unafraid, illumines his whole being. His thinking is clearer, his attitude happier, than that of the child who is in doubt. Doubt breeds fear and fear is the enemy of all growth.

When we find a child wavering, moody, uneven in development, we suspect that his mind is not serenely poised. For some reason or other he is not sure of what is going to happen to him, cannot be certain of the outcome of his actions. The first thing we do is an attempt to give him a feeling of well being and power. We feed him well. We praise him. We work to make him feel that we are standing by him like the Rock of Ages.

Once he gets to believe that he cannot fail, he has taken the first step toward success.

Keeping your promise to him, teaching him through experience that you are to be counted on unfailingly, is one of the big steps to training a child to independent, intelligent behavior.
